PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR AVERTING RAILWAY STRIKE

Von Bothmer Fails To Check Russians

AUSTRO-GERMAN LINES PUSHED BACK AT RAPID RATE TOWARD LEMBERG

London, August 14.—The Russian drive in Galicia is pushing the Austrian-German armies backward towards Lemberg at a rapid rate.

Both flanks of General Von Bothmers' army on the Lemberg front are under heavy pressure and its center, forced from the line of the Stripa, is announced by military observers in entente capitals to have none too secure a position in its rear along the Upper Zlota Lipa to which it is presumed to be retreating.

Petrograd today announces new gains for the Russians on the Northern wing of this front, on the Upper Sereth while today on the South General Letchitzky is continuing his thrust up the Dniester in the vicinity of Mariampol seven miles from Halicz.

The Russian armies in the center also are pursuing the Austrians in the middle Stripa and Koropiec regions.

Continuing their advance from Gorizia on the Isonzo front the Italians have made further progress on the Carso plateau to the southeast. Rome reports the piercing of a strongly defended Austrian line east of Hill 212. and the capture of about 800 additional men. The Austrians are sharply attacking along other sectors of the front but were repulsed in all attempts, the Italian war office announces.

Following the usual course, the Germans have sharply counter-attacked along the line west of Pozieres, which the British war office last night reported the British to have carried to a depth of 300 or 400 yards on a front of nearly a mile. The attack was partly successful the Germans gaining a foothold in a portion of the lost trenches.

Following up their gains on the north bank of the Somme the French are pushing their advance to a point where German evacuation of Clery, commanding the direct approach to Peronne from the northwest may be compelled. Fighting is being continued in the Maurepas sector northwest of Clery, where brisk cannonading is reported today. To the left of the Fay Deniecourt road a French attack resulted in carrying some trenches.

RUSSIAN SWEEP CONTINUES

Petrograd, August 14.—(Via London)—Along the Galician front the Russian sweep continues unchecked, the official announcement of today states. Further gains have been made on the Upper Sereth. In the region of the middle Stripa and the Koropice ,the Austrians are being pursued by the Russians, who reached the northern bank of the Dniester before Mariampol.

FRENCH CAPTURE TRENCHES

Paris, August 14.—The French troops captured some trenches on the left of the Fay-Deniecourt road in the Somme sector last night, says the war office announcement today. There was brisk cannonading in the region of Maurepas. German attacks in the vicinity of Hill 304 and at Fleury (in the Verdun sector) were repulsed.

Italians Pierce Austrian Trenches

Rome, August 14.(—Via London)—Italian troops continued yesterday pressing the Austrians back on the Carso Plateau and, east of Hill 212, pierced another strong line of hostile entrenchments. About 800 prisoners were captured by the Italians, says the official announcement of this operation.

"FOOTHOLD ONLY TEMPORARY"—LONDON

London, August 14.—Attacking British positions near Pozieres on the Somme front the Germans last night gained a foothold temporarily in a portion of the trenches taken from them yesterday.

ITALIANS REPULSED SEVEN TIMES

Berlin, August 14.—(wireless to Sayville)—The most severe fighting is in progress on the heights east of Gorizia, says the official Austrian announcement of Sunday. LOAN BABIES AS ICE CARDS

Toledo, O., August 14.—Loaning babies to be used as ice cards is the latest invention of Toledo housewives due to the ice famine. The plan worked to the satisfaction of at least three families, but when the same baby was loaned to a fourth woman and duly exhibited when the ice man appears, the latter became suspicious. It developed that one baby had passed along the line to four women, it having been announced that ice would be delivered to those who had babies.

DENIES REPORT OF DEUTSCHLAND SINKING

Pensacola, Fla., August 14.—The German merchant submarine Deutschland, which left Baltimore for Bremen on August 2, was sunk six days later by an allied warship in the Atlantic, according to a report brought here Saturday by the French cruiser Amiral Aube, and given to newspaper man by an orderly of the Amiral Aube's commander, Captain Lique. Captain Lique denied the rumor. The captain asserted he had received no information whatever about the Deutschland.

OHIO TROOPS ARE STILL IN CAMP

Camp Willis, Columbus, O., Aug. 14—With no official word from war department officials backing up news dispatches from Washington Saturday to the effect that the Ohio national guardsmen are to be sent to the Mexican border "as soon as equipped," guard officers were today anxiously awaiting some definite word and in the meantime were making ready wherever possible so the least possible time would be required when the final word "go" arrives.

Officers, however, seem optimistic and believe some of the troops will be out of camp before the end of the week.

Kinney, Minn., August 14.—Two prominent members of the Industrial Workers of the World are under arrest today and the police are searching for two others in connection with the attempted kidnapping last night of Mrs. Edward Eno, wife of a deputy sheriff Mrs. Lucy Clark, of Virginia, Minnesota, and her four-year-old son. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Eno who are sisters, were leaving a street car when four men attempted to overpower them. Mrs. Clark was struck on the head with a club and a serious wound inflicted. They broke away from the men and ran screaming down the road. The kidnappers threw the baby into a waiting automobile and fled. The police were on the trail in a few minutes and found the baby walking along the road. Two men, discovered hiding in bushes nearby, were arrested. They are L. Burotich and Andy Ventich, both members of the Industrial Workers of the World. Physicians attending Mrs. Clark, declare her wound serious.

Miss Torkason was engaged to O'Brien, but the engagement was broken. While she and her mother were driving to Morris Ill., O'Brien overtook them and when she refused to get into the motor car with him, O'Brien fired two bullets into her body.

PLAGUE CASES DECREASE

New York, August 14.—The epidemic of infantile paralysis took a turn for the better today. The number of new cases reported to the health department went under the hundred mark for the first time in several weeks. During the 24 hours ending at 10 a. m. the plague killed 31 children and 95 new cases were reported, 43 of them in Manhattan and 31 in Brooklyn. This compares favorably with yesterday's figures, when there were 141 new cases and 33 fatalities. The falling off in cases was attributed to the cooler weather.

RECORD BROKEN IN N. Y.

New York, Aug. 14—This is the coolest August 14, in the history of the local weather bureau. Only once in 1879, was it cooler on any August day than it was when the mercury stood at 56 at 6 a. m. The temperature rose slowly during the day, reaching 69 at 11:30 a. m. Bathing beaches, summer amusement resorts and open street cars lost popularity. The cool wave will remain indefinitely, the weather man says.

Washington, D. C., August 14.—Prospects for averting a nation wide railway strike, or at least for the formulation of some tentative program which will be the ground work for further negotiation, brightened today after President Wilson had conferred with 25 members of the great brotherhood. After the conference, the brotherhood representatives declared the president's grasp of the situation and the position of the men might result in an understanding being reached and those in touch with the conference said the representatives of the men showed a disposition to co-operate to avoid a strike.

After hearing the leaders of the men two hours, the president sent for the managers for a conference at 3 o'clock this afternoon. How far, whatever progress made at the conference with the men can go toward averting a break, cannot be estimated until after the president confers with the manager's call.

The president, according to those who attended the conference, showed a familiarity with the situation that surprised the men. The president was most sympathetic, said one of the brotherhood leaders, and his surprising knowledge of the situation and of our position may result in an understanding being reached.

The president, it was said, submitted no counter proposition to the men, but he held out hope for an adjustment by legislation, if necessary.

MAY RESORT TO CONGRESS

The impression prevailed among the brotherhood leaders that as a last resort the president might ask congress for 8 hour day legislation.

The leaders explained to the president their stand against arbitration by saying that they were carrying out the wishes of the 600 delegates who sat with them at their meeting with the federal mediators.

The delegates, the president was told, in voting on whether they should accept or reject the mediators proposal to arbitrate, voted unanimously for rejection. The brotherhood leaders present-

INJUNCTION IS GRANTED IN STREET PAVING CASE

A permanent injunction was granted James and Edward Kelley and Jay Thompson, Monday, by Judge Will P. Stephenson, West Union, in common pleas court, against the Board of Control and the S. Monroe and Sons Company, restraining them from improving Linden avenue by paving.

The testimony in the case was adduced in the local court of common pleas last week. The plaintiffs in the case contended that the Board of Control at a meeting June 29, this year awarded the contract for the paving of Linden avenue to the S. Monroe & Sons Company, when Kelley Brothers were the lowest bidders. The point of law upon which the action was based was whether S. Monroe & Sons Co. were the "lowest and best bidder", after Kelley Brothers submitted a bid upon the same work at a lower figure. The appeal bond was affixed at $3,000.

Bannon and Bannon, Will J. Meyer, Milner, Miller and Searl and Judge George M. Osborn represented the plaintiff and Millar and Micklethwait and City Solicitor S. Anselm Skelton represented the defendant.

The findings of the court in part were:

It appears from the evidence that the S. Monroe and Sons Co. in its bid did name the brand of brick that it proposed to use in the making of said improvement but did not file a sample brick. It appears from the evidence that Kelley Brothers did not name the brand of brick they intended to use in the making of such improvement neither did they file a sample.

This court is aware that administrative boards have a wide discretion in the letting of public contracts and courts have no right to interfere with such boards except and only when such discretion is abused. It is conceded by the defendants that Kelley Bros are financially responsible, that they are equipped and could do the work as well and as speedily as the S. Monroe and Sons Company; they further concede that Kelley Brothers' bid is the lowest bid for such improvement but contend that Kelley Bros. did not name the brand of brick that they intended to use in making the said improvement but that the S. Monroe and Sons Company did name the brand of brick that they intended to use in doing said work. Also that said board further knew that there was an abundance of brick of the brand proposed to be used by the S. Monroe and Sons Company, obtainable for the doing of such work but not knowing what brand Kelley Bros. proposed to use the board feared that said Kelley Bros. might not be able to obtain brick with which to make said improvement within the required time although they made no special inquiry to ascertain whether or not other brick manufacturing concerns in Portsmouth and vicinity had such brick.

This court would not attempt to say that the Board of Control of the city of Portsmouth in awarding said contract to the S. Monroe and Sons Company was actuated by political or personal animosity. The crux of the case is simply this: The S. Monroe & Sons Company named the brand of brick it intended to use but did not file sample; the Kelley Bros. did not name the brand and did not file sample. In the awarding of the contract to the S. Monroe & Sons Company the board of control necessarily had to waive the requirement of the ordinance of the city of Portsmouth requiring a sample brick to be filed with the bid. To have awarded the contract to the Kelley Bros. they would have had to waive both the requirements of the ordinance of the city of Portsmouth requiring the name of the brand of brick and the filing of a sample. The board of control under the ordinance may waive or correct irregularities in bids should they have the right to reject any and all bids; the right to waive and correct irregularities in bids has a limitation placed upon it by the governing board of the city; this can only be done when it is to the interest of the city to do so.

This court very much doubts the right of the board of control of the city of Portsmouth to waive the filing of the sample brick in any case. As was argued, the brand of brick named in the bid means nothing to the city of Portsmouth while the filing of a sample means everything. If this board in the exercise of sound discretion had a right to waive the failure of the S. Monroe and Sons Company, to file a sample brick then how can the court say that they did not have a right to waive the failure of Kelley Bros. to name the brand and file sample? Defendants attempt to answer this question by saying that they knew that the S. Monroe & Sons Company could get brick and do the work in the required time but they did not know whether Kelley Bros. could get them or not.

The evidence discloses the fact that there was an abundance of standard vitrified brick in the vicinity of Portsmouth other than the brand specified by the S. Monroe and Sons Company. This court can not say that the board of control, in awarding the contract to the S. Monroe and Sons Company, exercised its discretion in waiving mandatory requirements of the city of Portsmouth in the interest of said city.

The prayer of the petition will be granted; appeal bond fixed in the sum of $2000. Defendants may have their exceptions.

WILL P. STEPHENSON.

The fast West End Athletics clinched the pennant Saturday in the Boy Scout league when they defeated the Kendall Avenues, champions of last season, by the overwhelming score of 16 to 9. The Kendall Avenues defeated the Tigers earlier in the afternoon by a decisive score, and they went into their second game determined to prevent the Athletics from clinching the rag, but the West Enders got a good lead in the very first round when they rapped out 6 clean drives off of Scott for a total of five runs. They also hit the ball hard in the closing rounds. The score:

Scott in Rare Form.

In his game against the Tigers, Scott was invincible, holding them to five hits and fanning 7 batters. In only one inning were the Tiger boys able to score. Schrieck was driven from the mound in the third round by the Kendall Avenue sluggers, and he was replaced by Fortner, who twirled good ball until the fatal ninth when he, too, was hit hard and 7 tallies put across the pan. Claim All Candidates Tied Up To "Drys"

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Rev. E. C. Dinwiddie, legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of America has added an interesting chapter to Ohio politics when he stated that Harry Daugherty and Charles Dick, as well as Myron T. Herrick, promised before the Ohio primary that, if elected, they would vote for the submission of the national prohibition constitutional amendment to the states for ratification.

Judging from Dr. Dinwiddie's understanding of the situation it was the open season for making promises in Ohio. Dr. Dinwiddie has just returned from the Buckeye state.

"While in Ohio," he said, "I was reliably informed that all three republican candidates for the senatorial nomination, Herrick, Daugherty and Dick, were understood to be in favor of the submission of the National Prohibition amendment and that is the reason why our forces took no part as between them. I obtained the impression in Ohio, based on hearing the people talk, that Senator Pomerene is up against a very hard fight."

The Movies

Bessie Love In Triangle Feature, "Reggie Mixes In."

COLUMBIA TONIGHT.

In "Reggie Mixes In," the new Triangle feature starring Douglas Fairbanks, which is to be shown at the Columbia tonight, Reggie Morton, a wealthy young man, is tired of the shallow set in which he moves, although his fiancee, Dorothy Fleming, is a member of it.

One day he comes upon a little Italian girl, lost, and sitting on the curb. He takes her back to her home in the slums; and there he finds that the red blooded people he has been looking for. He makes the acquaintance of Agnes Shannon, (Bessie Love), a dancer in a cheap cabaret, and determines to make her his very own. He is prevented from proposing to her by his obligation to Dorothy, but to his great delight upon returning home he finds Dorothy in the arms of another. He breaks the engagement and hurrying back to Agnes becomes her "steady."

Agnes, however, has another admirer, Tony Bernard, a gang leader. Bernard sends a number of henchmen to beat up Reggie and get him out of the way, but Reggie beats them up one by one, throwing the man with the gun through the window at Bernard's feet. From that time on Bernard's determination to get Reggie is fixed. At last he gets the young fellow in a corner and prepares to do his worst. Reggie proposes that they go into an empty room adjoining, there have it out, the man who survives to get the girl. Bernard agrees. The resultant battle is one of the most glorious scraps ever shown upon the screen.

Nance O'Neill In "Those Who Toil" at Lyric Tonight

Nance O'Neil in the character of Jane Brett in "Those Who Toil," the powerful five-act photo drama by the Lubin Company to be revealed as a V. L. S. E. feature at the Lyric tonight is provided with a role affording the widest scope for her artistic and tense delineation of emotional stress. Jane Brett, in a story that deals with the problem of capital and labor is described as a daughter of the people. In Miss O'Neill's care, the character develops into a modern Joan of Arc who sets out to abolish the wrongs imposed upon her fellow workers. Altogether in story, star, supporting cast and direction "Those Who Toil" when seen tonight will be a revelation of one of the greatest picture achievements in the history of photoplay productions.

Alice Brady in "La Boheme" at Lyric Wednesday

The unrivalled Alice Brady will be here Wednesday as "Mimi" in the beautiful immortal love story "La Vie de Boheme", a wonder picture that has set the whole country talking.

Woman can make of a man what she will—by withholding herself from him. This is her power. Desire in man is all that electricity is to nature. Mastering it, a woman may light the world; giving way to it ignorantly, she destroys herself.

There have been great lovers who were not otherwise great men, but never a great man who was not at the same time a great lover. "Mimi" is a story of wonderful loves and great lovers, and something immortal happens when a man brings love to a thirsting woman.

"Mimi" is destined to be immortal. Its women are lovely and inspiring—women who called to themselves for a little space, the big-souled men of their time, and sent them away illustrious. Pictures have been shown on the screen that from time to time you will recall, but they will vanish into the forgotten past, long before "Mimi" has ceased to charm. In years to come, you will remember the adorable Mimi, the great lover Rudolphe and the imperishable sweetness of the whole story. It is a screen classic that will set a high standard for those that follow, a story you will feel better for having seen.

At The Exhibit

"The Cave of Despair" is the title of chapter nineteen of the greatest of all Pathe serials "The Iron Claw."

This number again tantalizes the observer with speculations as to who the Laughing Mask can be. The latter assists Davy to escape from the detectives. Margery then visits the great boulder, with the Iron Claw hovering near. She enters the secret doorway, pursued by the latter. The Laughing Mask again appears and grapples in hand-to-hand conflict with the Iron Claw. The number closes with the observer still puzzling over the solution still to come.

Two good comedies close the program.

At The Arcana

"The Scarlet Mark" is a two reel Victor drama featuring the Universal star, Mary Fuller, who plays the double role of Allison, a wealthy girl, and Wanda an adventuress. This is strong in plot and intensely interesting. "The Grip of Crime" is a one reel Big U drama. A story of an Italian scissors grinder and his child. The old man is used as a tool by some blackmailers. He is arrested and the child's story saves him and the gang members are punished.

"A Jail Bird's Last Flight" is an L Ko comedy. This pictures the experiences of two male flirts, lured to the police station by a pretty lady cop. Billy Armstrong, Gene Rogers and Carmel Myers play the leads. The running scene, explosion in jail and other episodes are laughable.

At The Strand

"The Devil's Image" is a two reel Imp production featuring Herbert Henley. This is a vivid dramatic feature that all should see.

"The White Scar" is a five part Broadway Universal feature drama with Hobart Bosworth and Anna Lehr in the leading roles.

Wenonah relates to her charge, son of Na-Ta-Nan-Gan, a story of his father's early life. As the story ends, Wenonah points to the white scar upon her neck, saying that it was made by the knife of Henri when she was willing to give herself that his father might live.

At The Temple

"The Green Eyed God" is the title of chapter 18 of "The Iron Claw." The detectives employed by Enoch Golden assure Golden that his discharged secretary is the wrong righter. Margery Golden does not believe this, but because of reports that The Laughing Mask, whom she loves, has been seen to kiss another girl, decides jealously to help track down her defender and settle the question of his identity.

Three good comedies complete the bill.

THE HUMOR GROWS DELIRIOUS

The more this philosophical journal sees and hears about politics, the more fun it sees continuously bobbing up in it. At Chicago two conventions were witnessed in session at the same time. One sang songs and quoted scripture, the other marked time and cussed. One nominated a candidate it wanted and none other and that candidate promptly showed how he had been cozzening it all the time, by striking a bargain with the other for the nomination of a man it didn't want. Thereupon he promptly resigned the nomination of himself and promptly and contemptuously dissolved the party he himself had created and that looked upon him as the one Moses to lead it to the promised land. Next week there was another convention down at St. Louis, which, its work being all cut and dried, according to more or less veracious reports, didn't do a thing but have a deuce of a good time at the expense of the hospitable Missourians and the only night real business was to be done, the hosts took possession of the convention and the delegates stood outside on the sidewalk and swore like they did in Chicago. Still another convention same along about a week later and its nominee nonchalantly repudiated its platform and constructed one of his own. His example got contagious and a certain other nominee with whiskers, calmly and judiciously eliminated the most interesting plank in his party platform and put in an entirely different one of his own choosing. The crowning hilarity is now staged. A bunch, that didn't like any of the fun going on, got up a party of their own and called it American, just because it is anything but that and along comes "the Same Old Bill" Sulzer of New York, and proclaims himself its nominee. The new organization vehemently denies the allegation and defies "the alligator" refusing to be swallowed by any such fish and affidavits, to say nothing of epithets that are flying thick and fast from the opposing camps.

Take these delightful Democratic times and all this uproar it is certainly glorious to be alive and enjoy it all.

TO A FAIR START

There was "a right smart sprinkling" of people in attendance at the meeting, held in Lucasville, Saturday afternoon, to forward the plans for a good roads day on the Scioto Trail. Better than that, there was but one opinion, and that was to make the most of the occasion possible. An excellent committee, that will have in effect general charge of the scheme, was appointed. It will enlist all the private aid possible and already has considerable promised, and with the assistance which the commissioners will give, it can be circulated to a reasonable certainty that the Scioto Trail "from end to end" will be in by far the best condition it has ever known. More than that, interest in this vital matter of good roads will be quickened an dthe general result will be good.

In these piping Democratic times of peace wheat is soaring around $1.60.

Come to think, it is right fine to have a touch of salubrious weather about this time.

Pretty sure thing the allies do not place much stock in the prediction that the war will soon be over. They have placed contracts for munitions that call for delivery as far hence as a year.

On the theory that when a drink is suggested a man will want one, Secretary Daniels has ordered wine glasses removed from the table service of men-of-war. As yet he sees no way of preventing suggestive gambling by removing the decks.

Two years ago the highly intelligent and much respected voters of the state picked and flung the Hon. Jack Arnold at the Republicans as their candidate for Lieutenant Governor because his name happened to begin with A and thereby he came first on the ballot. This year the equally intelligent and much respected voters not only sent "Jack" back to the Republicans but they also discovered another citizen by the name of Bloom and flung him at the Democrats as their candidate for Lieutenant Governor because his name began with B and headed the ballot. Great is the primary as she works out in actual practice.

Having about exhausted their vocabulary of abuse, one Adams county editor now refers to his opponent editor as "a human skunk." We wonder what will come next? Or rather we wonder if the boys down at West Union will not get back to normal one of these days and recognize the fact that they are both making asses of themselves by their extraordinary abuse of each other.

Some years ago the Hon. Myron T. Herrick was beaten for governor through the exertions of the Anti-Saloon League. Now this same League claims that Herrick has given it a pledge that if elected United States senator he will vote for a National Prohibition amendment and therefore it is going to support him for election. In the meantime the esteemed Liberal Alliances, etc., which had been supporting Col. Herrick because he was supposed to lean towards their side are blinking their eyes and wondering where they come in. The Cleveland statesman will have to do some fall explaining to satisfy both sides.

The government announces that the conservation of forests is beginning to pay. That's the way conservation ever has, and it keeps on with its dividends so long as it is kept up.

MORE PROOF THAT SHERMAN WAS RIGHT

THEY MAY YET GET HIM

Having, after many and mortal wounds failed to kill Villa in bulk, his fellow countrymen have now hit upon the happy scheme of slaying him by piecemeal. So they have shot off a leg, cut out one of his eyes, and blown off a part of his head in divers and sundry devotions to their patriotic purpose. The bandit still lives, of course, but there isn't so much of him as there was and hence not so much potentiality of deviltry in him. With the bit by bit elimination steadily pursued there may be no corpse left for burial, but there isn't going to be any international grief over this absence of the ordinary requisite to a first class funeral.

Dr. Tasker H. Cross, of the Red Cross, after investigation, denounce the calim that the militia troops on the border were supplied with poor or scanty rations as a total and malicious fabrication.

Anyway we are pleased to note that the Republican voters of Pike county took the Hon. Lloyd Gehres, editor of the ever esteemed Republican-Herald at his own estimate of his ability and possible usefulness in the halls of the legislature and nominated him for representative. We hope Lloyd will bask in the primrose smiles of fortune while the sun shines, for the cruel frost of November will surely hang a little motto entitled "Also Ran" for Lloyd to blink at and ponder over in the quiet of his editorial sanctum.

The Lucasville Fair Association is giving this year quite the most pretentious fair in Southern Ohio, with the exception of that at Washington, C. H. The only point at which the latter fair is superior is the racing and it is to be regretted that our own association has not a half-mile track. That is to come in time however, and in the meantime there will be plenty of sport for the lovers of racing. We hope the people of Portsmouth will attend the fair in larger numbers than ever before. There will be plenty there to interest and instruct and you will enjoy the day. Go at least once, go every day if you can and lend encouragement to the management by your presence.

Owing to the extraordinary increases in the cost of all things that go to make up a newspaper, consolidation is the order of the day. The latest that has come to our notice is in Natchez, Mississippi, where there were two good, strong papers up until a few months ago. They got pinched by the high prices and have gone together, publishing only one paper instead of the two. Oddly enough the new paper is to be published in the morning at the request of the Business Men's Association of the town which felt that a morning paper would be better for the town, and which pledged itself to withhold support from any possible opposition paper, holding that one good paper was better for the community than two weak ones, and that it was also better for the business men from an advertising standpoint.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.
O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, August 14—Rivington street is a street of woe just now. At night it is the Coney Island of the slums and men, women and child are fighting for the sleeping space on the curbs. The plague scare has terrorized the street.

I walked down the street at 11 o'clock the other night. There were 14 children on one stoop all trying to sleep and fretful. The curb merchants were hawking their wares. They sell pickles and cucumbers and watermelons and sliced pineapples. A penny is all they ask.

All the Jewish families from the tenements had brought their chairs out to the sidewalk for it was impossible to sleep indoors. Now and then a baby's wail could be heard—and there was a hush all along the line, perhaps an ambulance would come and Rivington street is afraid of ambulances.

The white and red printed cards on two doors told of the invasion of the plague and in some homes babies are expected and mothers are in terror unless motherhood be robbed by the invasion.

I saw one little boy asleep on a cellar door. Beside him was his brother with his face in his hands looking out into the night and apparently weighted with his responsibility.

"I gotta keep the kid out in the open air," he said. "He's a little shaver and he needs fresh air." The "little father" was himself about 10 years old. It is easy to see the effect of fear in such a neighborhood.

A well known gambler has been sentenced by a New York magistrate never to enter Jack's, the all night restaurant, again. It is about the worst sentence that could be imposed.

The gambler was standing in front of Jack's indulging in some airy fairy persiflage with the innocent passers-by. Along came Justice Levy who is a serious person and doesn't like to be trifled with.

But aside from his sense of justice he has a sense of humor. The gambler made some remark that was intended to be witty. The justice had him arrested and he was thrown in the cooler for a while. Then the magistrate passed the sentence denying him the unwonted freedom of Jack's.

An old Italian bootblack carrying his little kit about the office building and wistfully looking for a customer—only to find that every one had on white shoes, walked out into the middle of lower Broadway and sat down on the tracks and cried.

A policeman came up. He inquired what was the matter as there were several street cars clanging their bells to see their perfectly good tracks.

"De matter?" shrieked the little old man. "The whole dam world she go crazy—that's what's de matter." And he beat his bootblack box into kindling wood in the middle of the street and walked away.

They were talking together very low and earnest in a Fifth Avenue Club and so I butted in. It did not concern me but in the group were George Boldt, Copeland Townsend, John McBowman, Walton Marshall and Frank Harriman. They are the big hotel men here. I supposed they were talking about the famous hostelries abroad or were engaged in some highbrowish discussion on the high cost of living.

But I was wrong—they were longing for a good old fashioned home cooked dinner. Imagine it, men who have the highest priced chefs in the world at their command and yet they were wishing they could stick their feet under the table somewhere where an old fashioned cook put all the food before them. And after I heard them talk, I got hungry and went up a side street to a dairy lunch. The waiter was an affable fellow and loose as shoes with his conversation. "Do you know," he said "some day I'm going to go to one of them high priced hotels and get a square meal." So there you are.

MAKING THE BEST OF THINGS

There is one man of our acquaintance who lost a leg a few years ago in a railroad accident. Recently a friend asked him how much he felt he owed the railroad company for the accident.

The question did not appear as strange to the injured man as it might to the reader. When the accident in which he figured incapacitated him from further work as a railroad man he decided to let his brain do the work that he had formerly done with legs and arms. Now he is a successful professional man. The railroad company paid, in its damage award, the cost of his education. He is not any the less proficient in his profession because he possesses only one sound leg.

His story is just a short lesson in opportunity. It might be studied profitably by those who are giving to mooning about and feeling sorry for themselves.—Youngstown Telegram.

Nobody appears to have taken to the view that the little submarine boat reported seen off the Maine coast may have been one of Henry Ford's baby submarines, which were so industriously constructed for a time—on paper.—Marion Star.

Bed Time Tales
By Clara Ingram Judson

Mr. Moon Helps Out

One afternoon, in mid-summer, four little snow-white fairies sailed across the sky on a pure white cloud. And as they journeyed, they talked and visited about the wonderful sights they saw on the earth below.

"Do you know what I'd like to do?" asked Shine, thoughtfully.

"No, we don't," replied the other three.

"I'd like to sail and sail and sail for always, and I'd like to ride in the cloud all the days that there are!"

"Dear me, that sounds nice!" said the other three. "Maybe we can."

Just then the great, big, round, red sun settled himself for his good night's sleep, drew the brilliantly-tinted cloud covers over him and whispered, "I'll give you another day to-morrow." And then he shut his eyes and the sky grew dim.

"Now what are we going to do?" asked the three little fairies of the fourth. "What now?"

"We're going to stay right here on this cloud and wait till morning," replied Shine. "Then we'll be sure to miss nothing."

So the four little snow-white fairies settled themselves for the night.

But they didn't know much about clouds—not much! For no sooner had they settled themselves comfortably and prepared to take "forty winks" than that pure white cloud melted into nothingness and left them all alone in the great, big sky! Yes, sir! That's just what it did!

"Oh, our cloud has gone!" cried Shine.

"I'm spilling down to earth!" exclaimed Glint.

"We're nothing to stand on—we're falling!" cried the other two fairies in the same breath.

"Spread out your wings and catch yourselves!" cried Shine. "Maybe, if we look, we can find something to ride on so we won't fall all the way down to the earth. Let's look!"

So the four fairies, who really were falling straight down through the sky, spread their dainty wings and began to look around.

And what do you suppose they saw?

Left them all alone in the great, big sky! Yes, sir!

Of course you can guess. They saw the brand new moon launching his silver boat ready for a sail in the sky—that's what they saw.

"Oh, Mr. Moon! may we ride with you?" they called.

Mr. Moon looked up and saw the fairies four, with their wings outspread and their eyes on his craft, and he smiled and answered back, "To be sure! To be sure! Sail my way and hop right in!"

So the fairies four dropped down and down till their feet were safe in the silver boat and then they furled their wings and rode with the moon.

An "If" For Girls

(With NO apologies to Kipling)

If you can dress to make yourself attractive
Yet not make puffs and curls your chief delight,
If you can swim and row, be strong and active,
But of the gentler graces lose not sight;
If you can dance without a craze for dancing,
Play without giving play too strong a hold,
Enjoy the love of friends without romancing,
Care for the weak, the friendless and the old;
If you can master French and Greek and Latin,
And not acquire as well a prigish mien;
If you can feel the touch of silk and satin
Without despising calico and jeans;
If you can ply a saw and use a hammer
Can do a man's work when the need occurs,
Can sing when asked without excuse or stammer,
Can rise above unfriendly snubs and slurs;
If you can make good bread as well as fudges,
Can sew with skill and have an eye for dust;
If you can be a friend and hold no grudges,
A girl whom all will love because they must;
If somethimes you should meet and love another
And make home with faith and peace enshrined
And you its soul—a loyal wife and mother—
You'll work out pretty nearly to my mind
The plan that's been developed through the ages
And win the best that life can have in store.
You'll be my girl, a model for the sages—
A woman whom the world will bow before.
—Elizabeth Lincoln Otis.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Aug. 14.—Contrary to general expectations, today's market was not materially affected by industrial and other problems of an adverse character.

On the surface there were no indications at the outset of today's trading that Wall Street is unduly apprehensive over the more serious aspects of the railway labor situation. Leading transportation issues like Reading and Union Pacific were only fractionally lower with no material changes in others of the same group. Shipping stocks added to their recessions of last week, marine preferred yielding over a point with heaviness in the common. Coppers were steady but American zinc lost two points. United States Steel shaded moderately with extensive offerings of Anglo-French 5's at a slight concession.

Reading became the central feature of the forenoon on its advance of 2¼ points to 107¾. Buying of the stock, according to the gossip of the room was a most substantial character and stimulated other active issues, some of which had shown decided irregularity. This was particularly true of metals, equipment and the Mexican group. Attention continued to center largely upon Washington in expectation of some definite news respecting the course of the conference at the White House. Bond dealings aside from international issues, were normal. U. S. of Mexico 5's advanced 5 points.

Reading extended its gains to three points later and oils were higher on moderate accumulation. Elsewhere few changes of note were recorded. The closing was firm.

RAILWAYS

ed to the president detailed reports of the vote cast in favor of a general strike.

The discussion this morning, it was learned, centered largely about the possibility of reaching an agreement on some of the forms of arbitration and particular attention was paid to the subjects to be arbitrated. It was considered possible that a tentative agreement would provide for arbitration of the demands of the men for an 8 hour day and for time and a half for overtime, with the elimination of the counter proposals of the employers.

The railroads have wanted to arbitrate their counter proposals but the men objected. They were first inclined to arbitrate their own demands but later indicated their disinclination to arbitrate anything.

Shortly after 2:30 o'clock the managers' committee, at the conclusion of a half hour conference, went to the White House to meet the president. There were nineteen managers in the party and all were silent over the developments of the conference of the men and the president earlier in the day.

After introducing the committee of managers to President Wilson, Judge Chambers of the mediation board, said:

"The ice appears to be melting a little." He added that he was more hopeful that a strike would be averted than he was when he came here from New York this morning.

To Direct Strike From New York.

New York, Aug. 14.—If President Wilson fails to persuade the railroad men and their employers to settle their differences, and a general break of the strike is called, it will be directed from headquarters in this city. This announcement was made today as the leaders of the four big railway brotherhoods and the railroad managers reached Washington for a conference with the President. At brotherhood headquarters it was said that all preparations had been made for putting into effect a strike that would stop every train, passenger and freight, on the 225 railway systems of the United States.

"Unless the President can find a road out it means a strike," said A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Trainmen, and official spokesman for the employees, as he boarded the train for Washington at midnight. Elisha Lee, chairman of the conference committee of railroad managers, who with the eighteen members of this committee went to Washington on the same train that carried the 30 representatives of the brotherhood delegates, placed responsibility on the men for the failure of attempt at mediation. Mr. Garretson said that the unbending attitude of the railroad managers was to blame for the break.

Strike Would Be Disastrous.

The conference committee of the railroads and the leaders of the four brotherhoods, went to Washington in answer to summons from President Wilson brought here last night by Joe P. Tumulty, secretary to the President. The President in his letter pointed out that a general strike at this time might have a disastrous effect upon the country. He said, "I feel that I have the right therefore, to request, and I do hereby request, as the head of the government, that before any final decision is arrived at, I may have a personal conference with you.

The tension in business circles here today showed a realization of the acute danger of a national calamity. An aggregate of financial losses running into hundreds of millions, labor idleness and food privations, were some of the possibilities which a strike presented.

It was to be remembered business men said, that there is scarcely a factory of any importance which does not depend on a railroad for its products.

Food Question Would Be Serious.

Of more immediate seriousness would be the question of food supplies. The large communities which receive the bulk of their food from long distances would be forced to rely on what products could be brought in by wagon, trolley or vessel. The suspension of the country's exports, the congestion of imports at coast cities, the stranding of hundreds of thousands of travelers and summer resort visitors far from their homes—these are other possibilities of the strike situation, to say nothing of its effects on the railroads themselves and their employees.

The total capitalization of the railroads in this country amounts to more than $20,000,000,000, and their gross revenue has been estimated at more than $4,000,000,000 on the basis of recent reports. The latest estimates available show that the railways operate 251,941 miles of tracks and transport annually 1,033,679,680 passengers. The passenger cars have been computed at 51,700, and other cars at 2,393,808.

Plan Financial Caucus

Washington, August 14.—Senate Democrats will caucus again tonight to consider further the finance committee's amendment to the revenue bill, including the wine and stamp sections.

At yesterday's caucus the Democrats agreed to a stock license on corporations to yield about $20,000,000, elimination of most of the objectionable stamp taxes which had once been accepted and approved, an amendment to the munitions section which would reduce the net profit tax on manufacturers of material entering into munitions of war from ten percent as proposed by the finance committee, to five percent.

In addition to passing on what stamp taxes shall be retained the caucus is expected to vote on the Lewis resolution offered yesterday to defer action on the revenue bill until the next session of congress and to authorize a Panama canal bond issue to meet the government's expenses up to that time.

Charles Stielow, now is in Sing Sing prison under sentence of death for these murders, but was reprieved recently on the day set for his execution.

Stielow's friends believed King's confession would save the life of the condemned man. The district attorney says King made his statement to a committee of citizens of Orleans county, while no prosecuting officials nor police were present.

The General Service Company was awarded the contract for installing the lighting fixtures on the new Scioto county bridge Monday afternoon by the county commissioners at their regular meeting.

The lighting effect will materially enhance the beauty of the bridge. There will be six 100 watt lights on each span and there are four spans in all. The lights are to be placed in the corners of the steel arch supports. Alternate arches are to be selected for the lights. Then each entrance will be flanked by cloister lights.

The General Service Company was the only bidder. Their bid was $885.

The contract for the new concrete and steel Duck Run bridge, was awarded to J. C. Shively at his bid of $678. Other bidders were: Young and Adams, $975; H. E. Addis, $994, and W. K. Puntenny, $1,059.50.

All bids for the construction of culverts on the Turkey Foot road and the South Webster pike were rejected on account of irregularities. The work is to be re-advertised.

GRIP AND NEURASTHENIA

There is a form of neurasthenia that follows the grip. Doctors call it "post-grippal" neurasthenia. One of the foremost medical authorities of New York city in a lecture in the international clinics, said:

"Broadly speaking, every victim of the grip will suffer from post-grippal neurasthenia also. Lowering of nervous tone with increased irritability is the most striking effect of the disease, languor of mind and body, disturbed, fitful sleep and vague pains in the head and elsewhere. The treatment calls for rest and a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a non-alcoholic tonic, are particularly suited for building up the blood and strengthening the nerves after an attack of the grip. The rich, red blood expels the lingering germs from the system and transforms despondent grip victims into cheerful, healthy, happy men and women.

If you have had the grip get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now from the nearest drug store and begin the treatment at once.

On request we will send you a free pamphlet, "Building Up the Blood," which contains a chapter on the grip. Address the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Cruelty Is Charged

Fay Beck, this city, filed suit for divorce against George Howard Beck, Monday, in common pleas court. She says that her husband has been cruel to her, having struck her with his fist March 12, 1914. She also claims that the defendant has been guilty of adultery with an unknown woman at Dayton.

They were married at Columbus May 3, 1912. Milner, Miller and Searl represent the plaintiff.

Company M Boy Is Almost Drowned At Mt. Clemens

The activities of the River City Uniform Rank, Woodmen of the World, which is encamped at Mt. Clemens, Mich., are portrayed in a communication from Roy McElhaney, major of the 117th regiment.

The letter is: "This is some live town, only 10,000 inhabitants and has 600 Woodmen. This is going some. It is quite a resort. The baths here bring the sick, the lame and the lazy, mostly the lazy.

"It reminds one of a western town for she's wide open. Most any old gambling game you are looking for and a great many you are not looking for. If you did, it would be but one, for it doesn't take long to clean you."

"Our boys had quite an exciting time at the bathing beach this morning down at Clare Lake. Several were in bathing, when Tom Cassidy, of Company M, Portsmouth, took a cramp and nearly drowned. His cries of distress brought assistance, and Grant Perry and W. Radcliffe rescued him.

"One of the remarkable things about this encampment is that there has not been a man in the guard house. This speaks well for the calibre of the men and the discipline of the officers.

"We have dress parade daily. Tonight at 7 o'clock we are to have dress parade at the W. O. W. hall, where the ritualistic work will be exemplified. Company M. is to take part.

"We will probably spend the day in Detroit on our way home. If we are able to arrange a side trip into Canada, we will do so."

IMPORTANT DECISION TO THE SHOE MANUFACTURING TRADE

Vulco-Unit Box Toe Patents Sustained.

The District Court of the United States for the District of Massachusetts, in the suit of Beckwith Box Toe Company vs. Gowdy et al., manufacturers of the Victor Box Toe, has just handed down a decision sustaining the patents owned by the Beckwith Company on the Vulco-Unit box toe as an article of manufacture, and on the process of lasting a shoe in which the box is heated and softened. The patents sustained by this decision were the patents to F. E. Butterfield No. 1,070,406 and No. 1,124,694. In the first of these patents, the patented process, as sustained by the court, is described as follows:

The method of making stiffened foreparts of boot and shoe uppers, which consists in incorporating in the unlasted upper a stiffener blank comprising absorbent fibrous material containing a stiffening composition or material adapted to be softened by a degree of heat which is not injurious to leather, and to be stiffened by cooling, heating the blank to soften the same, lasting the upper while the blank is heated and soft and thereby imparting to the blank the form of a box toe conforming to the toe portion of the last, and allowing the box toe to stiffen by cooling.

In the second patent, the article of manufacture in the claims sustained by the Court is described as follows:

As a new article of manufacture, a stiffener for boots and shoes consisting of a sheet of fibrous material impregnated with a stiffening material which is capable of being softened when heated so as to be lasted in a shoe when so heated, which is capable of setting on cooling, and which when set is unaffected by moisture, or the heat of the human foot.

The merit of the Vulco-Unit box toe and the advantage of the process of lasting which involves its use have been long recognized by the trade. This box toe and process are now in use in all the leading shoe factories in the United States. 14-1t

Mrs. Folsom's Brother Killed

Robert Sloan, brother-in-law to Dr. John H. Folsom, formerly of this city, was instantly killed last week in a distressing accident, according to a dispatch carried in the Ashland Daily Independent. Dr. Folsom was located in the Turley building, Second and Chillicothe streets, for several months. The dispatch says:

Dr. Folsom has returned home from Burnside, Ky., where he and Mrs. Folsom were called by the tragic death of Mrs. Folsom's brother, Robert Sloan, whose neck was broken by the fall of a tree. The unfortunate man was head mate on a boat and had ordered a roustabout to tie the boat to a tree. The negro was not doing the work to the satisfaction of Mr. Sloan who himself started to tie the rope. The weight of the boat caused the rope to tighten suddenly and the tree which was rotten at the base fell over on Mr. Sloan, breaking his neck and right leg. His death was instaneous. Mrs. Folsom will not return to Ashland until later.

Dr. Folsom is a chiropractor with offices in the Kitchen building.

It had been originally planned to have the lights on Second street only from Chillicothe to Market street.

Race Question Discussion Barred By Mayor Kaps; News From Police Court

Mayor H. H. Kaps "drew the line" on an attempt to discuss the race question in his court during the hearing of a women's quarrel, Monday morning.

Dolly Bragg-Hamilton, the white wife of Arthur Hamilton, colored, had caused the arrest of Pauline White, colored, for threatening to strike her. Although they had always been friends they fell out over their children. Mrs. Hamilton is alleged to have made the remark that she was "getting tired of niggers anyway." Mrs. White thought this remark strange in view of the fact that Mrs. Hamilton's husband is colored. Just as she recalled this in the course of her testimony Mrs. Hamilton remarked that Pauline had little "room" for talk for her mother was a white person. "I can't help what my parents did," retorted Mrs. White. Mayor Kaps now took a hand, warning both to end the argument. He said if he would try to keep all women of Portsmouth from talking he believed he would have "some job on his hands." He dismissed the case with the warning to both women to keep the peace in the future.

Harold Grant, claiming Nevada as his home, was fined $5 for vagrancy and committed to the city work gang. Napoleon McClure and Haymond Hood, negroes, who also came into town without any visible means of support, were advised that strangers must repay the city for lodging and accordingly were assigned to the gang. The negroes, it developed, were among the crew which came to Portsmouth a few days ago from Kingsport, Tenn., and had a "free-for-all" fight at Russell, Ky., during which one of them, Brady Williams, was murdered and another perhaps fatally wounded. Williams was arrested here April 27 for "crap shooting." The night before he was robbed of $7 in "Blackberry" alley by John Robinson who is now serving sentence in the Mansfield Reformatory.

Two young men giving the names of Charles Brown and Elva Smith, charged with fighting at Fifth and Chillicothe streets, Saturday evening.

Starrett, who was found drunk on Offnere street near Tenth, and George Conners, a stranger, whom Detective Reno caught as he was trying to ride the "blind baggage" of an N. & W. passenger train; plain drunks giving the names of Stewart Davis, Thomas Edwards and R. Cecil; Floyd Bowman, charged with assaulting Howard Chisds, 922 Thirteenth street, and also with fighting with Ed Bowman; Walter Kirkendall, charged with stealing a $5 pair of shoes from Olive Hendren.

$3,135 Pledges And Cash For New School

Sunday was another glorious red letter day in the history of Holy Redeemer church people, who are well known for their generous liberality toward all parish works. After a week's successful quiet campaign, a large number of generous members have added their names to the roll of honor, and thereby have increased the number of pledges and cash receipts of the school fund to the handsome sum of thirty-one thousand and thirty-five dollars, ($3,135). This notable liberality of the members on Sunday has gratifyingly surpassed the most sanguine expectations of both pastor and congregation.

At present one hundred and twenty-seven heads of families, forty-five young women and thirty-seven young men of the parish have placed themselves on the church record as loyal and substantial friends of the new school. Lovely women! God bless them! have again notably demonstrated the devotion which is proverbial of the gentler sex to every good and just cause in which the welfare and happiness of the little children is involved. In the present campaign for school funds a beautiful spirit of rivalry between the young men and women of the parish has manifested itself to the honor of both sexes. At present the gentle sex leads the gallant young men of the parish by a majority of eighteen benefactors.

The young men of the parish who have not yet pledged themselves need to bestir within their manly breasts that pent-up spirit of "vim, vigor, victory" which once being aroused into successful action will enable them to be at least as gallant and generous as their fair opponents are gentle and liberal.

The following unique and happy incident of womanly devotion forms a precious setting to the present campaign. Last Saturday evening four young women—four fair and sweet sisters, called upon the pastor and placed in his hands $60 for the benefit of parents, their children, and the young men and women of the parish. Beautiful, touching, sublime and inspiring deed of sacrifice and liberality so characteristic of lovely woman! The pastor's heart was deeply touched by the unaffected deed of generosity as he called to mind the fact that these young women earned this money by daily hard work amid the sweltering summer heat of a local factory. Notwithstanding their beautiful young womanhood and it's natural craving for lawful vacations and innocent pleasures, they gladly denied themselves for the sake of making others happy. Without even the shadow of regret or protest, these young women gave up this goodly portion of their daily earnings for the new school. This notable and unostentatious deed is to their honor and deserving of enduring appreciation and gratitude by both pastor and congregation. May this combined deed of generosity of these good women bring richest blessings of heaven upon them and be an inspiring example worthy of immediate emulation of every young man and woman who have not pledged themselves. The pastor is contemplating a personal call upon members who have not subscribed in order to prevent delay, or personal embarrassment, or inconvenience, and that all members may share in the good work and that payments of pledges may not work hardship within the specified period.

Tuesday of this week being the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary is a holy day. The first Mass will be celebrated at 4:30 a. m., for the accommodation of those obliged to work. The last Mass will be said at 8:00 a. m.. The printed Annual Pew Rent report will be distributed in church next Sunday.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 60.

Dear Dolly—I have a terrible time with my hair. I curl it real much around my face. But it does not look very nice. I am 14. Please tell me how to fix it.
BLANCHIE.

Comb your hair straight back, and fasten with a big ribbon bow. People are not wearing their hair curled these days.

Dear Dolly—I thought I would just write a few lines for Sally W's peace of mind. She states that she has done so much studying of various subjects, but has been unable to understand the most absorbing question as she states it "a tongue-tied Dago." I think if Miss Sally had spent a few years studying the modern languages she would find out that her language is not one bit more interesting or better than the language the "tongue-tied Dago" uses. The idea seems ridiculous that a person educated to such a high degree should allow such a mere trifle to bother her. I wonder if she has ever thought about the kind of English some Americans use. About every other word they use is considered an English mistake. I wish she would compare a few persons that pride themselves upon being better than any one else with one of these "Dagos", who has not even seen the inside of an American school, and see which one makes the most of their chances at trying to talk correctly. I imagine a new word would have to be coined to describe the way in which Americans trying to talk a foreign language in a foreign country sounds to the inhabitants.
BLANK.

Sciotoville. Dear Dolly—Please tell how to can green beans with cooking them and how to preserve green tomatoes. How is my writing and spelling? POLLY

This recipe and also one for ripe tomato preserves appeared in this column within the past week. Anyone who thinks they will need a recipe for canning beans this season clip this out now. Take the beans and cut in nice size to cook, put in porcelain kettle, cover them with water, then add enough salt to make quite salty, cook till almost tender, put in quart cans, cover with juice, leaving a space at top for two tablespoons of vinegar, seal air tight. When you want to use them, rinse, then boil and drain, then season the same as fresh beans with the exception of salt. They will keep for a whole year if airtight. I haven't any recipe for green tomato preserves.

Dear Miss Wise—I have a very large mouth. What can be done? It is almost cavernous.
HILLTOPPER.

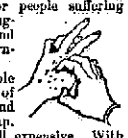

If you have pretty clean teeth and a sweet smile the size of your mouth wont be noticed.

Dear Miss Wise—Please inform me how to play tennis.
LILLIAN.

Manuals containing full directions for each stage of the sport are for sale in nearly all book stores. Buy one, and after you have studied the principles therein set down, visit a court where the game is played and learn the practical part of it. This is the only way to become a tennis player. One hour of close watchfulness, armed with the manual for reference, will do more to make a player of you than a library full of text books. This is one of the numerous activities of life to be learned by practice and not by theory.

How to Heal Skin-Diseases

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple, but reliable and inexpensive, home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles.

At any reliable druggist's get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap. These are not at all expensive. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

Almost any soap will clean the skin and hair. But those who want a soap which not only cleanses but actually helps the complexion and hair are wise to choose resinol soap.

RECOVERY OF NEW JERSEY WOMAN

Due To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bridgeton, N.J.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for inflammation and other weaknesses. I was very irregular and would have terrible pains so that I could hardly take a step. Sometimes I would be so miserable that I could not sweep a room. I doctored part of the time but felt no change. I later took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and felt a change for the better after the second day. I took it until I was in a good healthy condition. I recommend the Pinkham remedies to all women as I have used them with good results."—Mrs. MILFORD T. CUMMINGS, 24 New Street, Bridgeton, N. J.

Such testimony should be accepted by all women as convincing evidence of the excellence of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the distressing ills of women such as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, backache, painful periods, nervousness and kindred ailments.

Business Men And Faimers To Use Picks And Shovels On Road

The Good Roads committee from the Board of Trade and several local citizens met a gathering of rural citizens at Lucasville Saturday afternoon to devise ways and means to make "Scioto Trail Day" a complete success.

The day set aside is Thursday, August 24. On this day several hundred citizens will assist in cleaning up Scioto Trail from the terminus of the concrete road, near Lucasville, to the Pike county line.

Assurances of assistance were received from all those attending by the Good Roads committee, which is composed of Vallee Harold, Mark W. Selby and John C. Bauer.

Joseph H. Brant, A. F. Millar and John Violet were appointed to make arrangements with the farmers living along the Trail, from the Will Peart farm to the Pike county line, to assist in cleaning up the road in one day. The committee reports that considerable enthusiasm has been expressed over the enterprise.

A large delegation of Portsmouth business men have promised to haul out their shovels and picks, don overalls and hickory straw; pack up a dinner basket and join the suburban citizens in the battle against weeds and ruts along Scioto Trail between Lucasville and the Pike county line.

The committee intends to hold a meeting Monday evening at which a list is to be compiled, containing the names of the farmers residing along the Trail and the equipment to be furnished.

The citizens are not the only ones who have joined in the "Scioto Trail Day" movement. The county commissioners have promised to furnish the county equipment, besides their own personal labor.

The Norfolk and Western railway expects to co-operate with the party of workers, the committee reports.

Restaurant Damaged By Early Morning Fire

The Poole restaurant, 831 Gallia street, was seriously damaged by fire early Monday morning.

The fire broke out shortly after twelve o'clock in the kitchen. The origin is unknown. About 12:20 o'clock Gus Dais, a waiter at the Manhattan hotel, noticed the flare of the flames reflected in the windows and called the Seventh street fire company. A few minutes later George McMahon, of the Smoke House, turned in the alarm then broke down the front door and carried out the cash register.

Mr. McMahon then went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Poole, Eighth street, and aroused them.

The Seventh street and the East End companies responded to the alarm. A portion of the partition in the rear of the restaurant was opened and the place was flooded with water.

Most of the restaurant equipment was ruined. The whole interior was charred from the flames. Dishes were broken, everything was practically ruined with the exception of the coffee percolators in the front part of the room.

When seen Monday morning, Mr. Poole stated that he was unable to say what the cause of the fire was nor did he know the amount of insurance he carried on his equipment. The insurance he says was issued to the former owner by The Ohio Farmer Company.

"I intend to stay in Portsmouth," said Mr. Poole, "and I intend to open another restaurant just as soon as possible. It sure is discouraging to look at what I have this morning."

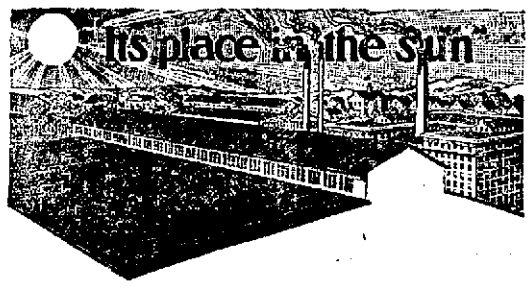

The Hazlebeck company will insure you. 819 Gallia. adv.

Plan Membership Campaign

The committees of Vienna Camp Sons of eVteraus and Vienna Auxiliary having in charge the city-wide campaign for new members for both of these organizations, will meet tomorrow, Tuesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Sickles, at Second and Waller streets, to block out the city into small districts and prepare all preliminaries before beginning the active campaign, in which every member of both organizations will enlist, and will be backed by the good old boys of Bailey Post G. A. R. The Sons of Veterans' committee is composed of fifteen members, and is as follows: Judge Thos. C. Beatty, William West, Captain W. H. Williams, W. N. Gableman, Gilbert F. Dodds, George S. Carroll, Charles C. Bennett, John R. Skelton, David P. Scott, Hartzell Evans, Floyd Saylor, Walter W. Watrous, John Neu, S. D. Eckhart and Harry M. Sickles, the last named being chairman.

The committee of Vienna Auxiliary is composed of fourteen members as follows: Mrs. Libbie Ball, Mrs. Mayme A. Sickles, Mrs. Mary Riggs, Mrs. Mayme Bennett, Mrs. Albert Crawford, Mrs. Nellie M. Fairtrace, Mrs. Mary Robe, Mrs. Fannie Puntenney, Mrs. Lulu Skelton, Mrs. Harry Mathiott, Mrs. David P. Scott, Mrs. Harry Eichorn, Mrs. Blanche Delph and Miss Margaret Sickles. The chairman of the ladies committee will be named at this meeting.

As to the campaign, much is expected. The people behind this movement want the cordial assistance not only of their friends, but of the citizens of "The City That Does", and they believe they deserve it. Vienna Camp Sons of Veterans was organized nine years ago, and from the first took high rank among the camps of the Ohio Divisions. In its second year it came within five votes of electing one of its members Commander of the Division and in its fourth year it secured the election of Dr. O. D. Donaldson as senior vice commander of the division.

TO hold "its place in the sun," is the avowed purpose of a great nation's conflict. To hold "its place in the sun," is the object of every business in the great fight for industrial and commercial supremacy.

To be able to hold "its place in the sun," is the supreme test of an asphalt roof. It is the sun, not rain or snow, that plays havoc with a roof. If it can resist the drying out process of the sun beating down upon it, day after day, the rain or snow will not affect it except to wash it clean and keep it sanitary.

Certain-teed

takes "its place in the sun" and holds it longer than other similar roofing, because it is made of the very best quality roofing felt, thoroughly saturated with the correct blend of soft asphalts, and coated with a blend of harder asphalts. This outer coating keeps the inner saturation soft, and prevents the drying out process so destructive to the ordinary roof.

The blend of asphalts used by "The General" is the result of long experience. It produces a roofing more pliable than those which have less saturation, and which are, therefore, harder and drier.

At each of the General's big mills, expert chemists are constantly employed to refine, test and blend the asphalts used; also to experiment for possible improvements. Their constant endeavor is to make the best roofing still better.

The quality of CERTAIN-TEED is such that it is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply). Experience proves that it lasts longer. Behind this guarantee is the responsibility of the world's largest manufacturer of roofings and building papers.

The General makes one third of America's supply of asphalt roll roofing. His facilities are unequaled, and he is able to produce the highest quality roofing at the lowest manufacturing cost.

CERTAIN-TEED is made in rolls; also in slate covered shingles. There is a type of CERTAIN-TEED for every kind of building, with flat or pitched roofs, from the largest sky-scraper to the smallest residence or outbuilding.

CERTAIN-TEED is sold by responsible dealers all over the world, at reasonable prices. Investigate it before you decide on any type of roof.

Swept Away By Flood

Ironton, O., Aug. 14—After a cloudburst at the head of Sand Fork the flood of water that swept down the narrow stream carried George Wickline, 25 years old, a prominent young Lawrence county farmer, of Lecta, to his death. Four companions escaped after a battle with the raging water. Wickline's body has not been recovered.

Were Released

Officer Armour Piatt took into custody Saturday afternoon two young men who were reported to have been over-driving and abusing a horse belonging to Liveryman Walter Reeg. As the alleged offense had been committed on the West Side they were later released after first settling with the liveryman.

CATARRH MOST PREVALENT HERE

Indoor Worker More Susceptible to Common Diseases Than Others

Probably the most distressing and prevalent disease to which Americans are heirs is catarrhal affection of the mucous membranes. According to medical authorities the indoor worker is more susceptible and is the worst sufferer from catarrhal conditions of which there are many kinds.

Catarrh of the stomach and kidneys is one of the most common causes of dyspepsia and Bright's disease, and catarrhal conditions of the nose and throat often lead to deafness. Nine out of ten cases of deafness can be traced to catarrh, it is said.

Frequently the lungs become affected by the extension of catarrhal inflammation by way of the bronchial tubes to the lungs substance.

The mental and physical state of the catarrh sufferers is, indeed, very unfortunate, and it is surprising to know what an immense number of people among those who reside in such cities as Portsmouth are suffering from this almost universal malady when they believe something else is the cause of their trouble.

The symptoms of catarrh are: offensive breath, constant sniffling, discharge from the nose, headaches, full head, pains in the stomach, unsound digestion, loss of appetite, broken sleep, and a great liability to catching colds and sore throats.

Tanlac, the famous reconstructive tonic, was designed to relieve just these conditions. Thousands of men and women have unhesitatingly acknowledged the benefits they have derived through this Master Medicine.

Tanlac restores lost appetite, relieves sniffling, discharge from the nose, headaches, and stomach pains, and will assist in the assimilation of food and bring back sound sleep, according to thousands who have realized the benefits from this wonderful preparation.

Tanlac is a tonic of rare properties, an appetizer and general invigorant designed to rid the system of congestion, tone up the stomach, overcome indigestion, headaches, backaches, non-assimilation of food, nervousness, dizziness, ailments of the kidneys and liver, and the complaints that are so common to the half-sick, debilitated men and women of today.

Tanlac may be obtained now in Portsmouth at the Fisher and Streich Pharmacy, where it is being especially introduced and its merits explained by the Tanlac Man.

COLUMBUS PAPER PRINTS PICTURE OF JUDGE OSCAR W. NEWMAN

Sunday's Ohio State Journal printed a full-page picture of Judge Oscar W. Newman, of the supreme court, and who for many years was an honored resident of the River City. It was a splendid likeness of Judge Newman and alongside of it the Journal printed the following complimentary notice:

"By an unusual centennial coincidence, Judge Oscar W. Newman was elected in 1912 to the Ohio supreme court bench just 100 years after that honor had been conferred upon his great-grandfather, Thomas Scott, who had the distinction of being secretary of the first constitutional convention in 1802.

"Judge Newman's father and his grandfather also were lawyers. They practiced in Portsmouth, where Judge Newman was born.

"He was graduated from the public schools of Portsmouth, after which he entered Kenyon College. Here he took a general arts course and later returned to Portsmouth to study law with his father, George O. Newman, who, at the age of 80 years, now lives with him in the Cumberland apartments, Parsons avenue. In recognition of the distinctions Judge Newman has received in the legal profession, the honorary degree of LL. D. was bestowed upon him last year by Kenyon College.

"Judge Newman is a member of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity. He is a golf enthusiast and a thorough baseball fan. In fact his friends maintain that he has not missed one baseball game this year when the team has played at home.

"Mrs. Newman was Miss Charl Thompson, daughter of the late Judge A. C. Thompson, federal judge of this district. They have one daughter, Miss Katherine Newman."

In the Midst of Drink, But None of it For Him

A Neal Institute Graduate Who Is "Making Good" in Business

"I am not drinking a thing," writes one of last summer's graduates of the Neal Institute, who is now located in Chicago. "Of course, this is a bad town for that game and my duties take me around with it a good deal, but when I think of the Hell that it has made me go thru, to say nothing of the disgrace and humiliation I have caused my friends, it makes me shudder."

Over 4,000 former drinkers, many like this man who was saved from excessive drink to go into business, have reason to rejoice over the personal work done at the Neal Institutes in the East Central Division which comprise Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh. There is nothing like the Neal Treatment for the quick transformation of intense craving for liquor into loathing for everything alcoholic just as pronounced.

The Neal Treatment is a physician's harmless vegetable remedy, taken internally, with no dangerous hypodermic injections. Three days of this treatment changes craving desire for liquor into intense dislike of everything alcoholic. There is no publicity. You are urged to investigate.

Escapes From Jail; Truitt Is Re-captured

William Truitt, sent to the county jail Saturday evening from Squire John W. Byron's court for moving some mortgaged goods from his barn without receiving permission, made his escape but was later apprehended.

Truitt was taken to the county jail by Constable H. H. Baker. When the office was reached, Baker placed his prisoner in a chair and then sat down. Dr. W. W. Smith, who was there giving one of the prisoners medical attention, asked the constable to get some supplies from his machine.

Noah Williams, who was in the office at the time, learned that Truitt was a prisoner and gave chase. After an exciting race around the court house and the jail, Williams landed his man and took him back to jail.

Woman Is Awakened; Finds Man Near Bed

Joe Abrams, a police character, is again in the toils for the third time within ten days.

Abrams boldly entered the home of Albert Sagowitz, of Ninth street, Sunday morning at 2:30 o'clock, when he found the front door unlocked. Mrs. Sagowitz was awakened by a noise in her room and was shocked to find Abrams standing near her bed. She shouted for her husband, who was sleeping in an adjoining room and Abrams bolted from the house. He was later arrested by Officer Grant Goings. Abrams was intoxicated.

Abrams threw himself upon the mercy of the court, Monday, stating that he had helped "finish" a quart of whiskey after completing his work as porter at the John McGowan barber shop on Ninth street, Saturday at midnight. He said he did not enter the Sagowitz home for any harm. He had formerly roomed in that neighborhood and simply got into the wrong house, he said.

The mayor told Abrams that he was likely to commit most any kind of crime any time and that he did not want him in Portsmouth so long as he was in office. He therefore fined him $100 and costs and sentenced him to 60 days in the workhouse, suspending both fine and sentence on condition that he get out of the city in 24 hours and stay away. This Abrams agreed to do.

Sagowitz who was present at the hearing gave warning that Abrams had better remain out of "his territory."

Pond Run Scene Of Bloody Fight

Some sharp words over a girl led to a bloody fight Saturday night between Paul Frazier, 20, and G. W. Richie, 25, both of Pond Run, on the West Side. Richie received four deep cuts; one on the left shoulder, another on the left forearm, one just over the heart and the last on the right forearm. Frazier escaped with bruises.

Frazier was arrested early Sunday morning and brought to the county jail by Deputy Sheriff Rome Arthur.

From information furnished the local officials by the two principals, Frazier has been visiting a girl answering to the name of Ruth Hazelbecker for some time. Her parents objected and Frazier appealed to Richie for assistance. Finally it was agreed that Richie was to see the girl and open negotiations for Frazier. This was done Saturday.

Later Saturday evening Richie and Frazier met about two miles below Pond Run and became involved in an argument over the girl. It resulted in Richie striking Frazier and knocking him down. Frazier, it is alleged, then jerked out a knife and cut his assailant.

Dr. Hopkins was called to treat Richie's wounds. The injured man was later removed to his home near Pond Run.

Deputy Sheriff Rome Arthur received the call about midnight and went to the scene. He found Frazier at his grandfather's home down near Buena Vista and placed him under arrest.

McDermott Is Defeated

The fast McDermott team lost to Waverly on the Waverly grounds Sunday afternoon by a score of 6 to 5, the game going to Waverly in the last inning when they drove in four runs. Long and Jeanquenat formed the battery for the McDermott nine, while Smallwood and Foster worked for Waverly. Meyers that star pitcher for McDermott took sick on the trip and was unable to take part in the game. Long the team short stop, did mound duty. The Waverly players only got one hit off Long until the eighth inning when Jeanquenat got hit on the head with a foul tip. The catcher was knocked out for ten minutes and the accident upset the entire McDermott team. Lon's offerings being sent to all corners of the lot and the game salted away. The same teams play to Waverly on Sunday August 27. Score by innings:

McDermott	021 010 010—5
Waverly	000 000 034—6

Matty Realizes He Faces Arduous Task

"I know just where we are the weakest and I will plug the holes as soon as available material can be secured. I am after several rattling good players and believe that by the end of this season I will have a team in Redland that even the most rabid fans of the city can warm up to and applaud," the once great hurler told a Times representative several days ago in Philadelphia. "It is no small job that I a meonfronted with but I like my new work and have taken up the task wholeheartedly," Matty said, as he stepped to the plate to take his turn in batting practice.

He kept an eye on Emmer and each time he came to the plate he gave him instructions as to how to swing with his whole body instead of snapping at the ball with his wrists doing all the work.

Emmer Got Chance When Herzog Left

Wearing Red garb in an unassuming and modest manner, Frank Emmer, shortstop for the Reds, looks like a real big leaguer in his new regalia. He had just lined out a long fly to left just Friday when a Times man engaged his attention in the Phillies' park and they enjoyed a chat about the Reds and baseball in general.

"I would never have got a chance at the short field had not Herzog left the club," Emmer stated. "Matty put me there and he will keep me there if I can hit better than .200. He has told me so."

"How about Matty alongside of Herzog as manager?"

"All the difference in the world. Matty is a prince. We have all learned more real baseball under him than we did under Herzog. Their methods are as different as day and night. Herzog almost refused to let a player do his own thinking. He was impetuous and always finding fault. With Matty it is far different. He sees our mistakes and tells us about them in a modest and effective way. No bawling out on the field before big crowds. Matty is not built that way. We are going to play our heads off for him."

ONE MINUTE TALK WITH BALL PLAYERS

Bill Hinchman, Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I'll never forget the first time I stepped to the plate to face big league pitching. I wanted to appear unconcerned, so I grabbed two bats and ambled carelessly from the bench. I guess I shook so much that I made the pitcher nervous. Anyhow he couldn't get the ball over.

"That wasn't the reason I didn't swing, though. I was so weak from nervousness that I couldn't grip the bat and take a good wallop.

"I would have swung at anything if I could. Finally, the pitcher walked me, forcing the winning run. The next day the newspapers boosted me for my iron nerve in waiting 'em out in a pitch."

Reds Win From Cubs

Cincinnati, Aug. 14.—In an 11-inning contest Cincinnati won the first game of the series from Chicago here Sunday, 4 to 3.

In the 11th inning Griffith tripled and Chase and Wingo were purposely passed, filling the bases.

On an infield hit Griffith was caught at the plate, but when Elliott tried to complete a double play, Chase scored the winning run. Archer and Kelly were both hurt and had to retire from the game.

Looks Like Boston Club

The Bill Carrigan Bostonese won, and are again in front of the field in the American league, and if you will listen to the dopsters the Red Sox will stay there for the rest of the season.

Cleveland has not been going as they were, the Highlanders have been wrecked by injuries the White Sox are "in and outers," and Detroit has not the pitching to stay with the first set. This is only dope but you can hear it from the bench to the bleachers.

"GROWL AT 'EM"

"Growl at 'em!"

That is the new war cry of the Reds and the phrase was coined by Manager Mathewson. Every time a close play comes up since Matty has taken over the Hillsdalers you can hear him yell to his players "Growl at 'em."

WIN A TWELVE INNING GAME

The Nonpariels of this city won a 12-inning battle from Fullerton at Coney Island Sunday afternoon by a score of 3 to 0. Rollins and Padan worked for Fullerton while Warner and Dobbins were in the points for the Nonpariels. Each team made five hits. The feature of the game was the fielding of L. Hensge who played shortstop for the Portsmouth nine. H. Hensge, manager of the locals, won the game when he drove in two runs with a two-bagger.

Races Open At Columbus

Columbus, Aug. 14.—The Columbus Driving Park track beaten into perfect condition by the recent rains and the prediction of ideal atmospheric conditions, the meeting of the 1916 grand circuit pacing and trotting races opens here today.

Nineteen events composed the program of the week, with the Mills Restaurant Sweepstakes 2:05 and 2:15 pacers and 2:18 trotters heats listed to open the meet fastest time is predicted in the 2.05 pace, with the following probable starters: Russell Boy, R. H. Brett; Lelia Patchen, Judge Ormond; Petsee Boy and Fred Russell.

Two McDonald horses, two Cox horses and one entry from the T. W. Murphy string will compete in the sweepstakes. Judge Stone will start the races.

THAT BIG "IF"

Red Sox Fan—"We'd be so far in front now if Speaker was with the club that there would be nothing in this race."

White Sox Fan—"If Eddie Collins had hit up to form of other years and Faber hadn't been disabled we'd be away out in front now."

Boonsetter Reese may be a wizard but he's never been able to set the bone that stole second with the bases choked.

Robinson Is Modest

"Wait until we come back from this next western trip and then maybe I will make some prediction as to what team will win the National league pennant,' said Robinson, manager of the Dodgers, when asked to pick the winner. "Let the other fellows claim the pennant. I just tell our boys not to start worrying about the championship but just to get in there and win each day's game as we go along without figuring too far ahead." Robbie, however, was very enthusiastic over the work of the Dodgers.

Hitting Is Very Light

In 72 trips to the plate Frank Emmer of the Reds, has scored eight runs and has made nine hits, giving him the average of .125.

"If I can only hit .200 I can hold my job with the Reds," Emmer stated to a Times man last Friday, while the Reds were practicing before their game with the Phillies.

"I have been jumped at the bat. I swing hard on the ball and send out some wicked smashes, but they persist in not falling safe." Emmer stated. "I guess they will break better some day."

Lacks Punch At The Bat

In commenting on Emmer's work while the Reds were in Philadelphia recently, the Ledger of that city says:

Young Emmer, the 19-year-old shortstop of the Reds, is a wonderful fielder, but the impression is generally that he will never hit well enough to hold his position. Emmer also proved yesterday that he is a quick Runner by signing Louden to permit Luderus' fly to fall safe, so that Whitted, a much faster base runner, could be forced to second.

GIANTS HAVE GOOD CHANCE

Manager McGraw, of the Giants, says that his team is in a better position to win the National league pennant than at any time this season. After numerous ups and downs, McGraw believes that he has at last got his combination straightened and that now he will begin to cut down the lead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Murray admits that the Dodgers have a fine lead over the Giants, but he says that Brooklyn is such a bad road club that it is bound to crumble up in the home stretch. Further cheer McGraw sees if he had the combination in April as he has now in August he would be so far ahead of the other seven clubs that there would be no interest in the National league race; in fact it would not be a race but a procession.

McGraw may have good reasons to be optimistic of the chances of his team but he should not forget that there are three teams that the Giants must pass before they can take up the lead.

McGraw has offered the Chicago club $5,000 for Heinie Zimmerman.

SEASON CLOSES ON LABOR DAY

The Texas league season closes on Labor day and hardly will the sound of the willow meeting the agate die away until "Irish" Colwell takes a rattler for dear old Portsmouth. He expects to spend the winter in the River City according to present plans. Mrs. Colwell arrived here last Friday.

SPORT SALAD

All Philadelphia is hunting for the boob who kicked a ball out of Nesbit's way and tossed a game into the lap of the Reds last Friday. That's what we call "Merkling" a game away.

Pete Schneider, of the Reds, has not been taking his turn in the box on account of a lame pitching arm.

Damon Runyon has picked the St. Louis Browns to win the pennant in the American league. Now we know they won't win it.

Young Man Drowned And Two Others Have Narrow Escape

Canoe Is Overturned In Ohio River Near The Bathing Beach

SECOND CLOSE CALL

Sunday afternoon was the second time Robert Holbrook, well known young man, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Ohio river. Just two years ago he was in a boat when it overturned in nearly the same spot as the fatal accident yesterday.

(BULLETIN)

Mrs. D. E. Holbrook received a message from O. C. Sutton, father of the drowned victim, of Meadeville, Pa., today saying that he was sending Arthur Byhan here to direct the search for his son's body and to take care of the body if it was found.

C. P. Sutton, about 28 years of age, from Meadeville, Pa., lost his life by drowning, and Robert Holbrook and Richard Pratt, two well-known local young men, had narrow escapes from meeting a like fate Sunday evening in the Ohio river, about 5:30 o'clock, when a new canoe belonging to Pratt was overturned when the strong current carried one end of it against an old tree that is lodged on the government dyke above the Peerless bathing beach.

Sutton is the second victim to be claimed by the murky waters of the Ohio river this season and the fifth drowning victim of the year in local waters.

Sutton, who represents the Frantz Premier Electric Co., of Cleveland, sold vacuum cleaners and came to this city from Huntington last Friday afternoon. In Huntington he was at the Electric Shop, 1043 Fourth avenue. He obtained room and board at the Mrs. A. L. Holbrook home, 1163 Ninth street.

Sunday morning he appeared very jolly and sang about the house for sometime and at noon ate a hearty dinner. After dinner he accepted an invitation to accompany Robert Holbrook, of the same home, on a canoe trip with Richard Pratt. The trio met at the wharfbont about 2:30 o'clock. Pratt received the boat last Thursday and Sunday was the second time he had it in service. The trip up river was made without the least trouble, and the party went up Tygart Creek quite a distance and returned.

The trip to the Ohio side of the river was also made without mishap and the trio started for the wharfboat down this side of the river, the current on this side of the river being strong enough to carry the canoe along at a good rate. Holbrook and Sutton were using the paddles lightly, while Pratt was lying in the middle of the canoe. The snag struck consists of a large-sized tree, which has lodged on the government dyke during the high water. Part of the tree was plainly visible. The canoe was passing the snag when it touched it lightly. At this critical moment Sutton lost his paddle. The canoe was a few feet past the snag when it was turned, and the trip back to the snag to recover the paddle was started. The paddle caught on part of the old tree. As Pratt dislodged it, the strong current took the front end of the canoe and whirled it against the old tree. The canoe tipped and some water poured in over the side. It righted itself, but then turned over on the other side, throwing its occupants in the water.

Holbrook, who cannot swim, and Pratt clung to the tree.

As soon as they got their bearings and looked around they saw Sutton a short distance down stream.

Pratt thought Sutton had hold of the canoe, but a second later saw that he was swimming. Pratt let go his hold on the snag and started out down stream after Sutton to save him. He lost all track of him when he started swimming. After going about forty feet down stream and not catching up with his friend, Pratt struck out for shore. On reaching land he looked back but did not see Sutton and realized that he had gone under. Pratt then ran to the beach for help.

Searching parties were immediately organized, and two young men in a boat rescued Holbrook from the submerged tree, none the worse for his experience.

The searching parties from the beach were joined by fishermen and shantyboatmen in the vicinity, but on account of the high water the chances for recovery of the body are slim.

The canoe was later rescued by parties at the beach a short distance below the scene of the drowning. It had caught on a snag, but in rowing about one of the searchers dislodged it.

Sutton was a well-mannered young man, and the short time he was at the Holbrook home he made friends with all members of the home. He is said to have remarked that he had not been home since the first of the year and that he was to be married soon. He is a Mason.

Early Sunday evening telegrams telling of the sad affair were sent to relatives in Meadeville and the Cleveland firm he represented.

Among the young man's belongings at the house was found a lodge receipt for dues paid up until April 1, 1916. He was a member of the Keyser F. and A. M. lodge No. 51, the receipt being signed by James W. Stayman, secretary. The receipt was turned over to police officers, who placed it in the hands of A. J. Fuller, secretary of the local Masonic lodges.

Family Of 5 Go Over Narrows On The Harrisonville Road

Providence must have smiled on W. J. Wiant and family of near Jackson, about 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening when their Ford touring car went over a fifty foot bank, for they escaped with a good shaking up and slight bruises. The machine left the old Harrisonville pike about 200 yards east of the western end of the Little Scioto river narrows, ploughed through the trees and landed a mass of wreckage, against a ten inch thorn tree about fifty feet from the road and only 20 feet from the Little Scioto river.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wiant and three children occupied the automobile and they were followed by a neighbor and his family of four, who were also in a Ford car. The party was making its first automobile trip to Portsmouth and chose the old Harrisonville pike so they could view the construction of the C. & O. Northern railroad which follows this pike most of the way from Sciotoville to Harrisonville.

The Wiant machine was in the lead and slowed down as it came onto the narrow road around Merwint hill, skirting the Little Scioto river bank. The road is just wide enough to allow two vehicles to pass. The rain early Sunday had made the road muddy and dangerous. Two hundred yards east of the cement bridge that crosses the Little Scioto river and leads to the Henry Ketter farm and C. & O. Northern camps Mr. Wiant lost control of the machine on the slippery pike and it dashed over the bank.

All five passengers were thrown out as the machine went over the edge of the bank. Mr. and Mrs. Wiant and children held to a small tree, vines and roots until members of the second car arrived and assisted them to the pike.

The bank at the place where the car went over is steep and it is hardly believable that all the party escaped without injury. Garage men at Sciotoville who were called to the scene say they do not understand how the car came to pass between the many trees that are on the bank. The car was badly wrecked. It stood balanced on its left wheels, the head end resting against the small tree. The right side of the car was several feet in the air. The left front wheel, left fenders, radiator and lamps were mashed, wind shield broken and front axle bent.

Stewart and Sparks of the Sciotoville garage went to the scene early Monday and with block and tackle and several teams pulled what was left of the machine to the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Waint and family returned to Jackson Sunday evening in their neighbor's car, it carrying ten passengers.

Free Comedy Act At Far i

WALTER STANTON

Stanton's Giant Rooster free comedy act is to be one of the free attractions at the annual Scioto County Fair, which will start Tuesday morning. If you have never seen a wee Bantam whip a great towering Chanticleer, don't fail to visit the fair grounds.

This is one of the best acts ever brought to the fair by the management. The giant rooster is just a clever imitation of the real thing, but the Bantam is a genuine fighting feather foul, whose actions during the "mortal" combat is brim-full of humor. It is a laugh from start to the finish and everyone will enjoy it. Two free exhibitions each day.

Loss of teeth is caused usually by one of two conditions—Pyorrhea or decay, both of which develop, as a rule, only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

First, it REALLY CLEANS, embodying specially prepared, soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Second, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea. WILSON HEARS R. R. DISPUTE

AUSTRIAN LINES FALL BACK

PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH LEADERS IN CONTROVERSY IN EFFORT TO AVERT STRIKE

Washington, August 14 --- Railroad managers and brotherhood leaders, dead-locked in negotiations which threaten a nation-wide railroad strike, today laid their case before President Wilson.

First came 35 representatives of the brotherhoods who conferred with the president shortly after ten o'clock. They were followed by the committee of managers. The brotherhood men went into the conference firm in their determination not to accept an arbitration under the Newland's act which they contend has always furnished arbitrators before whom the men did not have an unprejudiced opinion.

There were some indications that the president recognizing that view might propose a special arbitration before a board of twelve members on which the four great brotherhoods could be represented.

The president's plan was to appeal to managers and men on the highest patriotic grounds to find a way to compose their differences without a strike.

The managers went to one hotel and the brotherhood leaders went to another to await the call from the White House, while the Federal mediators set about arranging a conference.

The first developments of the day was a declaration by A. B. Garretson, speaking for the brotherhoods, that the men were thru with propositions of arbitration under the Newlands act. Previous arbitrations under that law, he reiterated, had demonstrated that the neutral arbitrators held the balance of power.

He declared that any special arbitration into which the men might agree to enter would have to make provisions for an extension of those arbitrators to give the men what they consider a fair chance.

"The chief objection to the existing forms of arbitration on the part of the brotherhoods," said Garretson today, "centers on the difficulty that has been experienced in selecting neutral arbitrators who can do justice to the cause of the men. In the past there have been neutral arbitrators of high standing and intelligence, such as John H. Finley, of New York, and Seth Low, former mayor. No matter how honest their intentions they could not bring to bear on the questions at issue the disinterestedness necessary. Finley's future relied entirely on the direction of corporate influences, while Low, although honest, was surely influenced by the fact that he is a large owner of stocks and bonds.

"The appointments of neutral arbitrators in the past under the provisions of the Newlands act have damned arbitration as a practical proposition in the minds of the men."

W. L. Chambers of the federal mediators, conferred with President Wilson early this morning and arranged for the conferences. There was a suggestion that the president might urge an arbitration by a board of 12 members so that each of the railroad brotherhoods could be represented. The president it was indicated very clearly would appeal to both employers and men on the highest patriotic grounds to meet and settle their differences without resorting to a strike. President Wilson cancelled a long list of engagements in order to give all his time to the situation.

President. At brotherhood headquarters it was said that all preparations had been made for putting into effect a strike that would stop every train, passenger and freight, on the 225 railway systems of the United States.

"Unless the President can find a road out it means a strike," said A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Trainmen, and official spokesman for the employees, as he boarded the train for Washington at midnight. Elisha Lee, chairman of the conference committee of railroad managers, who with the eighteen members of this committee went to Washington on the same train that carried the 30 representatives of the brotherhood delegates, placed responsibility on the men for the failure of attempt at mediation. Mr. Garretson said that the unbending attitude of the railroad managers was to blame for the break.

Strike Would Be Disastrous.

The conference committee of the railroads and the leaders of the four brotherhoods, went to Washington in answer to summons from President Wilson brought here last night by Joe P. Tumulty, secretary to the President. The President in his letter pointed out that a general strike at this time might have a disastrous effect upon the country. He said, "I feel that I have the right therefore, to request, and I do hereby request, as the head of the government, that before any final decision is arrived at, I may have a personal conference with you.

The tension in business circles here today showed a realization of the acute danger of a national calamity. An aggregate of financial losses running into hundreds of millions, labor idleness and food privations, were some of the possibilities which a strike presented.

It was to be remembered business men said, that there is scarcely a factory of any importance which does not depend on a railroad for its products.

Food Question Would Be Serious.

Of more immediate seriousness would be the question of food supplies. The large communities which receive the bulk of their food from long distances would be forced to rely on what products could be brought in by wagon, trolley or vessel. The suspension of the country's exports, the congestion of imports at coast cities, the stranding of hundreds of thousands of travelers and summer resort visitors far from their homes—these are other possibilities of the strike situation, to say nothing of its effects on the railroads themselves and their employees.

The total capitalization of the railroads in this country amounts to more than $20,000,000,000, and their gross revenue has been estimated at more than $4,000,000,000 on the basis of recent reports. The latest estimates available show that the railways operate 251,944 miles of tracks and transport annually 1,053,679,680 passengers. The passenger cars have been computed at 51,700, and other cars at 2,393,808.

Washington, Aug. 14—Judge William L. Chambers, commissioner of the United States Board of Mediation and Conciliation, said on his arrival here today to see President Wilson that he believed the chances for the president settling the threatened strike of railroad employees brighter than were the chances of the board. Judge Chambers arrived early today from New York with Secretary Tumulty and arranged to see President Wilson immediately.

The representative of the railroad managers and employees preceded Judge Chambers here but Judge Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the board, and G. W. Hanger, the other member of the board remained in New York and will come here as soon as sent for by Judge Chambers.

Secretary Tumulty announced that the representatives of the two sides to the controversy would see the president separately in order that he might get a clearer idea of their respective positions.

Judge Chambers prepared a detailed account of the negotiations in New York for the president and this morning told Secretary Tumulty of the difficulties of the situation.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Representatives of unorganized railway employes outside of the brotherhoods involved in the strike negotiations, called at the White House early today and left word for the President that they stood behind him in his efforts to avert a nation-wide railroad strike.

P. K. Walden, representing the unorganized workmen on roads running out of Chicago, presented a petition signed by 16,000 men opposing a strike.

To Direct Strike From New York.

New York, Aug. 14.—If President Wilson fails to persuade the railroad men and their employers to settle their differences, and a general break of the strike is called, it will be directed from headquarters in this city. This announcement was made today as the leaders of the four big railway brotherhoods and the railroad managers reached Washington for a conference with the

DAM BREAKS AND COUNTRY FLOODED

Asheville, N. C., August 14.—Daylight found the inhabitants of the Keowee and Seneca Valleys, in South Carolina still awake, anxiously awaiting the crest of the flood waters loosened last night by the breaking of the great dam at Lake Toxaway, N. C. Warnings of the floods approach sent broadcast enabled dwellers in the lowlands to prepare to move if necessary.

The collapse of the dam released a lake which covered 550 acres to an average depth of thirty feet, but so far as known, no lives were lost. At Lake Toxaway village, a noted summer resort, only minor damage was reported. A spring seeping through the foundation of the stone and earth structure, is believed to have caused the collapse. The water's course through North Carolina ran through an almost uninhabited section of Transylvania county. There was little doubt that crops suffered severely. Preparations were made by industrial plants in South Carolina to combat the force of the flood. Gangs were busy strengthening dams and otherwise preparing for high waters.

The property damage known early today was $50,000.

TO CONSIDER FINANCIAL PROBLEMS

Washington, August 14.—Senate Democrats will caucus again tonight to consider further the finance committee's amendment to the revenue bill, including the wine and stamp sections.

At yesterday's caucus the Democrats agreed to a stock license on corporations to yield about $20,000,000, elimination of most of the objectionable stamp taxes which had once been accepted and approved, an amendment to the munitions section which would reduce the net profit tax on manufacturers of material entering into munitions of war from ten percent as proposed by the finance committee, to five percent.

In addition to passing on what stamp taxes shall be retained the caucus is expected to vote on the Lewis resolution offered yesterday to defer action on the revenue bill until the next session of congress and to authorize a Panama canal bond issue to meet the government's expenses up to that time.

McDermott Is Defeated

The fast McDermott team lost to Waverly on the Waverly grounds Sunday afternoon by a score of 6-to 5, the game going to Waverly in the last inning when they drove in four runs. Long and Jeanquenat formed the battery for the McDermott nine, while Smallwood and Foster worked for Waverly. Meyers that star pitcher for McDermott took sick on the trip and was unable to take part in the game. Long the team short stop, did mound duty. The Waverly players only got one hit off Long until the eighth inning when Jeanquenat got hit on the head with a foul tip. The catcher was knocked out for ten minutes and the accident upset the entire McDermott team. Lon's offerings being sent to all corners of the lot and the game sailed away. The same teams play in Waverly on Sunday August 27. Score by innings:

McDermott	021	010	010—5
Waverly	000	000	031—6

Game Was Called Off

The Portsmouth-Ironton game scheduled for Beechwood park, Ironton, Sunday, was called on account of rain. The Steel Plant nine was to represent Portsmouth. The teams play in Millbrook park here next Sunday.

SHAMROCKS WIN

The Portsmouth Shamrocks won from the Mechanic-Marshall nine on the latter's grounds at the Sciotoville bridge side Sunday afternoon by a score of 9 to 5.

Matty Realizes He Faces Arduous Task

"I know just where we are the weakest and I will plug the holes as soon as available material can be secured. I am after several rattling good players and believe that by the end of this season I will have a team in Redland that even the most rabid fans of the city can warm up to and applaud," the once great hurler told a Times representative several days ago in Philadelphia. "It is no small job that I a inconfronted with but I like my new work and have taken up the task wholeheartedly," Matty said, as he stepped to the plate to take his turn in batting practice.

He kept an eye on Emmer and each time he came to the plate he gave him instructions as to how to swing with his whole body instead of snapping at the ball with his wrists doing all the work.

Emmer Got Chance When Herzog Left

Wearing Red garb in an unassuming and modest manner, Frank Emmer, shortstop for the Reds, looks like a real big leaguer in his new regalia. He had just lined out a long fly to left last Friday when a Times man engaged his attention in the Phillies' park and they enjoyed a chat about the Reds and baseball in general.

"I would never have got a chance at the short field had not Herzog left the club," Emmer stated. "Matty put me there and he will keep me there if I can hit better than .200. He has told me so."

"How about Matty alongside of Herzog as manager?"

"All the difference in the world. Matty is a prince. We have all learned more real baseball under him than we did under Herzog. Their methods are as different as day and night. Herzog almost refused to let a player do his own thinking. He was impetuous and always finding fault. With Matty it is far different. He sees our mistakes and tells us about them in a modest and effective way. No bawling out on the field before big crowds. Matty is not built that way. We are going to play our heads off for him."

ONE MINUTE TALK WITH BALL PLAYERS

Bill Hinchman, Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I'll never forget the first time I stepped to the plate to face big league pitching. I wanted to appear unconcerned, so I grabbed two bats and nibbled carelessly from the bench. I guess I shook so much that I made the pitcher nervous. Anyhow he couldn't get the ball over.

"That wasn't the reason I didn't swing, though. I was so weak from nervousness that I couldn't grip the bat and take a good wallop.

"I would have swung at anything if I could. Finally, the pitcher walked me, forcing the winning run. The next day the newspapers boosted me for my iron nerve in waiting 'em out in a pitch."

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 14.—The Vancouver club of the Northwestern league, has sold Jack Calvo, outfielder, to the Detroit Americans.

Reds Win From Cubs

Cincinnati, Aug. 14.—In an 11-inning contest Cincinnati won the first game of the series from Chicago here Sunday, 4 to 3.

In the 11th inning Griffith tripled and Chase and Wingo were purposely passed, filling the bases.

On an infield hit Griffith was caught at the plate, but when Elliott tried to complete a double play, Chase scored the winning run. Archer and Kelly were both hurt and had to retire from the game.

Looks Like Boston Club

The Bill Carrigan Bostonese won, and are again in front of the field in the American league, and if you will listen to the dopsters the Red Sox will stay there for the rest of the season.

Cleveland has not been going as they were, the Highlanders have been wrecked by injuries the White Sox are "in and outers," and Detroit has not the pitching to stay with the first set. This is only dope but you can hear it from the bench to the bleachers.

SPORT SALAD

All Philadelphia is hunting for the fan boob who kicked a ball out of Neale's way and tossed a game into the lap of the Reds last Friday. That's what we call "Merkling" a game away.

Pete Schneider, of the Reds, has not been taking his turn in the box on account of a lame pitching arm.

Damon Runyon has picked the St. Louis Browns to win the pennant in the American league. Now we know they won't win it.

Rivers Will Attempt Another Fling At Lightweight Title

JOE RIVERS.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Joe Rivers, the Los Angeles lightweight, is now in Chicago, and will soon take another fling at the lightweight title, if his present plans work out successfully. Joe has not been in the ring for several months. He is now in prime condition he says, and is ready to stash his way through the lightweight division to earn the right to box Freddie Welch for the title. Ever since Rivers hurt his knee in a ten round bout with Ritchie Mitchell in Cincinnati, he has practically been on the shelf. He is anxious to dig up an opponent for a bout on Labor day.

Races Open At Columbus

Columbus, Aug. 14.—The Columbus Driving Park track beaten into perfect condition by the recent rains and the prediction of ideal atmospheric conditions, the meeting of the 1916 grand circuit pacing and trotting races opens here today.

Nineteen events composed the program of the week, with the Mills Restaurant Sweepstakes 2:05 and 2:15 pacers and 2:16 trotters heats listed to open the most fastest time is predicted in the 2:05 pace, with the following probable starters: Russell Boy, R. H. Brett; Lelia Patchen, Judge Ormond; Petreo Boy and Fred Russell.

Two McDonald horses, two Cox horses and one entry from the T. W. Murphy string will compete in the sweepstakes. Judge Stone will start the races.

THAT BIG "IF"

Red Sox Fan—"We'd be so far in front now if Speaker was with the club that there would be nothing in this race."

White Sox Fan—"If Eddie Collins had hit up to form of other years and Faber hadn't been disabled we'd be away out in front now."

Bancroftter Reese may be a wizard but he's never been able to set the bone that stole second with the bases choked.

Robinson Is Modest

"Wait until we come back from this next western trip and then maybe I will make some prediction as to what team will win the National league pennant," said Robinson, manager of the Dodgers, when asked to pick the winner. "Let the other fellows claim the pennant. I just tell our boys not to start worrying about the championship but just to get in there and win each day's game as we go along without figuring too far ahead." Robbie, however, was very enthusiastic over the work of the Dodgers.

"GROWL AT 'EM"

"Growl at 'em!"

That is the new war cry of the Reds and the phrase was coined by Manager Mathewson. Every time a close play comes up since Matty has taken over the Rhinelanders you can hear him yell to his players "Growl at 'em."

Hitting Is Very Light

In 72 trips to the plate Frank Emmer of the Reds, has scored eight runs and has made nine hits, giving him the average of .125.

"If I can only hit .200 I can hold my job with the Reds," Emmer stated to a Times man last Friday, while the Reds were practicing before their game with the Phillies.

"I have been jumped at the bat. I swing hard on the ball and send out some wicked scorchers, but they persist in not falling safe." Emmer stated. "I guess they will break better some day."

Lacks Punch At The Bat

In commenting on Emmer's work before the Reds were in Philadelphia recently, the Ledger of that city says:

"Frank Emmer, the 19-year-old shortstop of the Reds, is a wonderful fielder, but the impression is generally that he will never hit well enough to hold his position. Emmer also proved yesterday that he is a quick thinker by urging Louden to permit Luderus' fly to fall safe, so that Whitted, a much faster base runner, could be forced to second.

GIANTS HAVE GOOD CHANCE

Manager McGraw, of the Giants, says that his team is in a better position to win the National league pennant than at any time this season. After numerous ups and downs, McGraw believes that he has at last got his combination straightened and that now he will begin to cut down the lead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

McGraw admits that the Dodgers have a fine lead over the Giants, but he says that Brooklyn is such a bad road club that it is bound to crumple up in the home stretch. Furthermore, McGraw says if he had the combination in April that he now has in August he would be so far ahead of the other seven clubs that there would be no interest in the National league race; in fact it would not be a race but a procession.

McGraw may have good reasons to be optimistic of the chances of his team, but he should not forget that there are three teams that the Giants must pass before they can take up the lead.

Brooklyn has offered the Chicago club $15,000 for Heinie Zimmerman.

SEASON CLOSES ON LABOR DAY

The Texas league season closes on Labor day and hardly will the sound of the willow meeting the agate die away until "Irish" Conwell takes a rocker for dear old Portsmouth. He expects to spend the winter in the River City according to present plans. Mrs. Conwell arrived here last Friday.

THE HUMOR GROWS DELIRIOUS

The more this philosophical journal sees and hears about politics, the more fun it sees continuously bobbing up in it. At Chicago two conventions were witnessed in session at the same time. One sang songs and quoted scripture, the other marked time and cussed. One nominated a candidate it wanted and none other and that candidate promptly showed how he had been cozzening it all the time, by striking a bargain with the other for the nomination of a man it didn't want. Thereupon he promptly resigned the nomination of himself and promptly and contemptuously dissolved the party he himself had created and that looked upon him as the one Moses to lead it to the promised land. Next week there was another convention down at St. Louis, which, its work being all cut and dried, according to more or less veracious reports, didn't do a thing but have a deuce of a good time at the expense of the hospitable Missourians and the only night real business was to be done, the hosts took possession of the convention and the delegates stood outside on the sidewalk and swore like they did in Chicago. Still another convention sune along about a week later and its nominee nonchalantly repudiated its platform and constructed one of his own. His example got contagious and a certain other nominee with whiskers, calmly and judiciously eliminated the most interesting plank in his party platform and put in an entirely different one of his own choosing. The crowning hilarity is now staged. A bunch, that didn't like any of the fun going on, got up a party of their own and called it American, just because it is anything but that and along comes "the Same Old Bill" Snizer of New York, and proclaims himself its nominee. The new organization vehemently denies the allegation and defies "the alligator" refusing to be swallowed by any such fish and affidavits, to say nothing of epithets that are flying thick and fast from the opposing camps.

Take these delightful Democratic times and all this uproar it is certainly glorious to be alive and enjoy it all.

TO A FAIR START

There was "a right smart sprinkling" of people in attendance at the meeting, held in Lucasville, Saturday afternoon, to forward the plans for a good roads day on the Scioto Trail. Better than that, there was but one opinion, and that was to make the most of the occasion possible. An excellent committee, that will have in effect general charge of the scheme, was appointed. It will enlist all the private aid possible and already has considerable promised, and with the assistance which the commissioners will give, it can be circulated to a reasonable certainty that the Scioto Trail "from end to end" will be in by far the best condition it has ever known. More than that, interest in this vital matter of good roads will be quickened an dthe general result will be good.

In these piping Democratic times of peace wheat is soaring around $1.60.

Come to think, it is right fine to have a touch of salubrious weather about this time.

Pretty sure thing the allies do not place much stock in the prediction that the war will soon be over. They have placed contracts for munitions that call for delivery as far hence as a year.

On the theory that when a drink is suggested a man will want one, Secretary Daniels has ordered wine glasses removed from the table service of men-of-war. As yet he sees no way of preventing suggestive gambling by removing the decks.

Two years ago the highly intelligent and much respected voters of the state picked and flung the Hon. Jack Arnold at the Republicans as their candidate for Lieutenant Governor because his name happened to begin with A and thereby he came first on the ballot. This year the equally intelligent and much respected voters not only sent "Jack" back to the Republicans but they also discovered another citizen by the name of Bloom and flung him at the Democrats as their candidate for Lieutenant Governor because his name began with B and headed the ballot. Great is the primary as she works out in actual practice.

Having about exhausted their vocabulary of abuse, one Adams county editor now refers to his opponent editor as "a human skunk." We wonder what will come next? Or rather we wonder if the boys down at West Union will not get back to normal one of these days and recognize the fact that they are both making asses of themselves by their extraordinary abuse of each other.

Some years ago the Hon. Myron T. Herrick was beaten for governor through the exertions of the Anti-Saloon League. Now this same League claims that Herrick has given it a pledge that if elected United States senator he will vote for a National Prohibition amendment and therefore it is going to support him for election. In the meantime the esteemed Liberal Alliances, etc., which had been supporting Col. Herrick because he was supposed to lean towards their side are blinking their eyes and wondering where they come in. The Cleveland statesman will have to do some tall explaining to satisfy both sides.

The government announces that the conservation of forests is beginning to pay. That's the way conservation ever has, and it keeps on with its dividends so long as it is kept up.

MORE PROOF THAT SHERMAN WAS RIGHT

THEY MAY YET GET HIM

Having, after many and mortal wounds failed to kill Villa in bulk, his fellow countrymen have now hit upon the happy scheme of slaying him by piecemeal. So they have shot off a leg, cut out one of his eyes, and blown off a part of his head in divers and sundry devotions to their patriotic purpose. The bandit still lives, of course, but there isn't so much of him as there was and hence not so much potentiality of devilry in him. With the bit by bit elimination steadily pursued there may be no corpse left for burial, but there isn't going to be any international grief over this absence of the ordinary requisite to a first class funeral.

Dr. Tasker H. Cross, of the Red Cross, after investigation, denounce the calim that the militia troops on the border were supplied with poor or scanty rations as a total and malicious fabrication.

Anyway we are pleased to note that the Republican voters of Pike county took the Hon Lloyd Gehres, editor of the ever esteemed Republican-Herald at his own estimate of his ability and possible usefulness in the halls of the legislature and nominated him for representative. We hope Lloyd will bask in the primrose smiles of fortune while the sun shines, for the cruel frost of November will surely hang a little motto entitled "Also Ran" for Lloyd to blink at and ponder over in the quiet of his editorial sanctum.

The Lucasville Fair Association is giving this year quite the most pretentious fair in Southern Ohio, with the exception of that at Washington, C. H. The only point at which the latter fair is superior is the racing and it is to be regretted that our own association has not a half-mile track. That is to come in time however, and in the meantime there will be plenty of sport for the lovers of racing. We hope the people of Portsmouth will attend the fair in larger numbers than ever before. There will be plenty there to interest and instruct and you will enjoy the day. Go at least once, go every day if you can and lend encouragement to the management by your presence.

Owing to the extraordinary increases in the cost of all things that go to make up a newspaper, consolidation is the order of the day. The latest that has come to our notice is in Natchez, Mississippi, where there were two good, strong papers up until a few months ago. They got pinched by the high prices and have gone together, publishing only one paper instead of the two. Oddly enough the new paper is to be published in the morning at the request of the Business Men's Association of the town which felt that a morning paper would be better for the town, and which pledged itself to withhold support from any possible opposition paper, holding that one good paper was better for the community than two weak ones, and that it was also better for the business men from an advertising standpoint.

Bed Time Tales

By Clara Ingram Judson

Mr. Moon Helps Out

One afternoon, in mid-summer, four little snow-white fairies sailed across the sky on a pure white cloud. And as they journeyed, they talked and visited about the wonderful sights they saw on the earth below.

"Do you know what I'd like to do?" asked Shine, thoughtfully.

"No, we don't," replied the other three.

"I'd like to sail and sail and sail for always, and I'd like to ride in the cloud all the days that there are!"

"Dear me, that sounds nice!" said the other three. "Maybe we can."

Just then the great, big, round, red sun settled himself for his good night's sleep, drew the brilliantly-tinted cloud covers over him and whispered, "I'll give you another day to-morrow." And then he shut his eyes and the sky grew dim.

"Now what are we going to do?" asked the three little fairies of the fourth. "What now?"

"We're going to stay right here on this cloud and wait till morning," replied Shine. "Then we'll be sure to miss nothing."

So the four little snow-white fairies settled themselves for the night.

But they didn't know much about clouds—not much! For no sooner had they settled themselves comfortably and prepared to take "forty winks" than that pure white cloud melted into nothingness and left them all alone in the great, big sky! Yes, sir! That's just what it did!

"Oh, our cloud has gone!" cried Shine.

"I'm spilling down to earth!" exclaimed Glint.

"We've nothing to stand on—we're falling!" cried the other two fairies in the same breath.

"Spread out your wings and catch yourselves!" cried Shine. "Maybe, if we look, we can find something to ride on so we won't fall all the way down to the earth. Let's look!"

So the four fairies, who really were falling straight down through the sky, spread their dainty wings and began to look around.

And what do you suppose they saw?

Left them all alone in the great, big sky! Yes, sir!

Of course you can guess. They saw the brand new moon launching his silver boat ready for a sail in the sky—that's what they saw.

"Oh, Mr. Moon! may we ride with you?" they called.

Mr. Moon looked up and saw the fairies four, with their wings outspread and their eyes on his craft, and he smiled, and answered back, "To be sure! To be sure! Sail my way and hop right in!"

So the fairies four dropped down and down till their feet were safe in the silver boat and then they furled their wings and rode with the moon.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

By O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, August 14—Rivington street is a street of woe just now. At night it is the Coney Island of the slums and men, women and child are fighting for the sleeping space on the curbs. The plague scare has terrorized the street.

I walked down the street at 11 o'clock the other night. There were 14 children on one stoop all trying to sleep and fretful. The curb merchants were hawking their wares. They sell pickles and cucumbers and watermelons and sliced pineapples. A penny is all they ask.

All the Jewish families from the tenements had brought their chairs out to the sidewalk for it was impossible to sleep indoors. Now and then a baby's wail could be heard—and there was a hush all along the line, perhaps an ambulance would come and Rivington street is afraid of ambulances.

The white and red printed cards on two doors told of the invasion of the plague and in some homes babies are expected and mothers are in terror unless motherhood be robbed by the invasion.

I saw one little boy asleep on a cellar door. Beside him was his brother with his face in his hands looking out into the night and apparently weighted with his responsibility.

"I gotta keep the kid out in the open air," he said. "He's a little shaver and he needs fresh air." The "little father" was himself about 10 years old. It is easy to see the effect of fear in such a neighborhood.

A well known gambler has been sentenced by a New York magistrate never to enter Jack's, the all night restaurant, again. It is about the worst sentence that could be imposed.

The gambler was standing in front of Jack's indulging in some airy fairy persiflage with the innocent passers-by. Along came Justice Levy who is a serious person and doesn't like to be trifled with.

But aside from his sense of justice he has a sense of humor. The gambler made some remark that was intended to be witty. The justice had him arrested and he was thrown in the cooler for a while. Then the magistrate passed the sentence denying him the unwonted freedom of Jack's.

An old Italian bootblack carrying his little kit about the office building and wistfully looking for a customer—only to find that every one had on white shoes, walked out into the middle of lower Broadway and sat down on the tracks and cried.

A policeman came up. "He inquired what was the matter as there were several street cars clanging their bells to see their perfectly good tracks.

"'De matter?" shrieked the little old man. "The whole dam world she go crazy—that's what's de matter." And he bent his bootblack box into kindling wood in the middle of the street and walked away.

They were talking together very low and earnest in a Fifth Avenue Club and so I butted in. It did not concern me but in the group were George Boldt, Copeland Townsend, John McBowman, Walton Marshall and Frank Hirriman. They are the big hotel men here. I supposed they were talking about the famous hostelries abroad or were engaged in some highbrowish discussion on the high cost of living.

But I was wrong—they were longing for a good old fashioned home cooked dinner. Imagine it, men who have the highest priced chefs in the world at their command and yet they were wishing they could stick their feet under the table somewhere where an old fashioned cook put all the food before them. And after I heard them talk, I got hungry and went up a side street to a dairy lunch. The waiter was an affable fellow and loose as ashes with his conversation. "Do you know," he said "some day I'm going to go to one of them high priced hotels and get a square meal." So there you are.

MAKING THE BEST OF THINGS

There is one man of our acquaintance who lost a leg a few years ago in a railroad accident. Recently a friend asked him how much he felt he owed the railroad company for the accident.

The question did not appear as strange to the injured man as it might to the reader. When the accident in which he figured incapacitated him from further work as a railroad man he decided to let his brain do the work that he had formerly done with legs and arms. Now he is a successful professional man. The railroad company paid, in its damage award, the cost of his education. He is not any the less proficient in his profession because he possesses only one sound leg.

His story is just a short lesson in opportunity. It might be studied profitably by those who are giving to mooning about and feeling sorry for themselves.—Youngstown Telegram.

An "If" For Girls

(With NO apologies to Kipling)

If you can dress to make yourself attractive
Yet not make puffs and curls your chief delight,
If you can swim and row, be strong and active,
But of the gentler graces lose not sight;
If you can dance without a craze for dancing,
Play without giving play too strong a hold,
Enjoy the love of friends without romancing,
Care for the weak, the friendless and the old;
If you can master French and Greek and Latin,
And not acquire as well a prigish mien;
If you can feel the touch of silk and satin
Without despising calico and jeans;
If you can ply a saw and use a hammer
Can do a man's work when the need occurs,
Can sing when asked without excuse or stammer,
Can rise above unfriendly snubs and slurs;
If you can make good bread as well as fudges,
Can sew with skill and have an eye for dust;
If you can be a friend and hold no grudges,
A girl whom all will love because they must;
If somethimes you should meet and love another
And make home with faith and peace enshrined
And you its soul—a loyal wife and mother—
You'll work out pretty nearly to my mind
The plan that's been developed through the ages
And win the best that life can have in store,
You'll be my girl, a model for the sages—
A woman whom the world will bow before.

Young Man Drowned And Two Others Have Narrow Escape

Canoe Is Overturned In Ohio River Near The Bathing Beach

SECOND CLOSE CALL

Sunday afternoon was the second time Robert Holbrook, well known young man, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Ohio river. Just two years ago he was in a boat when it overturned in nearly the same spot as the fatal accident yesterday.

C. P. Sutton, about 28 years of age, from Meadeville, Pa., lost his life by drowning, and Robert Holbrook and Richard Pratt, two well-known local young men, had narrow escapes from meeting a like fate Sunday evening in the Ohio river, about 5:30 o'clock, when a new canoe belonging to Pratt was overturned when the strong current carried one end of it against an old tree that is lodged on the government dyke above the Peerless bathing beach.

Sutton is the second victim to be claimed by the murky waters of the Ohio river this season and the fifth drowning victim of the year in local waters.

Sutton, who represents the Frantz Premier Electric Co., of Cleveland, sold vacuum cleaners and came to this city from Huntington last Friday afternoon. In Huntington he was at the Electric Shop, 1043 Fourth avenue. He obtained room and board at the Mrs. A. L. Holbrook home, 1153 Ninth street.

Sunday morning he appeared very jolly and sang about the house for sometime and at noon ate a hearty dinner. After dinner he accepted an invitation to accompany Robert Holbrook, of the same home, on a canoe trip with Richard Pratt. The trio met at the wharfboat about 2:30 o'clock. Pratt received the boat last Thursday and Sunday was the second time he had it in service. The trip up river was made without the least trouble, and the party went up Tygart Creek quite a distance and returned.

The trip to the Ohio side of the river was also made without mishap and the trio started for the wharfboat down this side of the river, the current on this side of the river being strong enough to carry the canoe along at a good rate. Holbrook and Sutton were using the paddles lightly, while Pratt was lying in the middle of the canoe. The snag struck consists of a large-sized tree, which has lodged on the government dyke during the high water. Part of the tree was plainly visible. The canoe was passing the snag when it touched it lightly. At this critical moment Sutton lost his paddle. The canoe was a few feet past the snag when it was turned, and the trip back to the snag to recover the paddle was started. The paddle caught on part of the old tree. As Pratt dislodged it, the strong current took the front end of the canoe and whirled it against the old tree. The canoe tipped and some water poured in over the side. It righted itself, but then turned over on the other side, throwing its occupants in the water.

Holbrook, who cannot swim, and Pratt clung to the tree.

As soon as they got their bearings and looked around they saw Sutton a short distance down stream.

Pratt thought Sutton had hold of the canoe, but a second later saw that he was swimming. Pratt let go his hold on the snag and started out down stream after Sutton to save him. He lost all track of him when he started swimming. After going about forty feet down stream and not catching up with his friend, Pratt struck out for shore. On reaching land he looked back but did not see Sutton and realized that he had gone under. Pratt then ran to the beach for help.

Searching parties were immediately organized, and two young men in a boat rescued Holbrook from the submerged tree, none the worse for his experience.

The searching parties from the beach, were joined by fishermen and shantyboatmen in the vicinity, but on account of the high water the chances for recovery of the body are slim.

The canoe was later rescued by parties at the beach a short distance below the scene of the drowning. It had caught on a snag, but in rowing about one of the searchers dislodged it.

Sutton was a well-mannered young man, and the short time he was at the Holbrook home he made friends with all members of the home. He is said to have remarked that he had not been home since the first of the year and that he was to be married soon. He is a Mason.

Early Sunday evening telegrams telling of the sad affair were sent to relatives in Meadeville and the Cleveland firm he represented.

Among the young man's belongings at the house was found a lodge receipt for dues paid up until April 1, 1916. He was a member of the Keyser F. and A. M. lodge No. 51, the receipt being signed by James W. Stayman, secretary. The receipt was turned over to police officers, who placed it in the hands of A. J. Fuller, secretary of the local Masonic lodges.

BUSINESS MEN AND FARMERS ARE TO USE PICKS AND SHOVELS TO FIX ROAD

The Good Roads committee from the Board of Trade and several local citizens met a gathering of rural citizens at Lucasville Saturday afternoon to devise ways and means to make "Scioto Trail Day" a complete success.

The day set aside is Thursday, August 24. On this day several hundred citizens will assist in cleaning up Scioto Trail from the terminus of the concrete road, near Lucasville, to the Pike county line.

Assurances of assistance were received from all those attending by the Good Roads committee, which is composed of Vallee Harold, Mark W. Selby and John C. Bauer.

Joseph H. Brant, A. F. Millar and John Violet were appointed to make arrangements with the farmers living along the Trail, from the Will Feurt farm to the Pike county line, to assist in cleaning up the road in one day. The committee reports that considerable enthusiasm has been expressed over the enterprise.

A large delegation of Portsmouth business men have promised to haul out their shovels and picks, don overalls and hickory straw; pack up a dinner basket and join the suburban citizens in the battle against weeds and ruts along Scioto Trail between Lucasville and the Pike county line.

The committee intends to hold a meeting Monday evening at which a list is to be compiled, containing the names of the farmers residing along the Trail and the equipment to be furnished.

The citizens are not the only ones who have joined in the "Scioto Trail Day" movement. The county commissioners have promised to furnish the county equipment, besides their own personal labor.

The Norfolk and Western railway expects to co-operate with the party of workers, the committee reports.

Falls From Second Story

Joe Hornakle, a 5-year-old son of William Hornakle, of Carey's Run, fell from a second story window of the family home Saturday, but strangely enough, was not knocked unconscious and did not suffer the slightest bruises. Only the fear that he may have sustained internal injuries caused his parents to summon Dr. Harry Rapp, of Nauvoo. The physician found that the boy had not been injured in the least.

POND RUN SCENE OF BLOODY FIGHT

Some sharp words over a girl led to a bloody fight Saturday night between Paul Frazier, 20, and G. W. Richie, 25, both of Pond Run, on the West Side. Richie received four deep cuts: one on the left shoulder, another on the left forearm, one just over the heart and the last on the right forearm. Frazier escaped with bruises.

Frazier was arrested early Sunday morning and brought to the county jail by Deputy Sheriff Rome Arthur.

From information furnished the local officials by the two principals, Frazier has been visiting a girl answering to the name of Ruth Hazelbecker for some time. Her parents objected and Frazier appealed to Richie for assistance. Finally it was agreed that Richie was to see the girl and open negotiations for Frazier. This was done Saturday.

The conversation between Richie and the girl took place in front of the Dr. J. N. Hopkins residence, near Friendship. Dr. Hopkins called the girl into his house. The physician, after obtaining the story from the girl called Frazier and asked for an explanation. Later Saturday evening Richie and Frazier met about two miles below Pond Run and became involved in an argument over the girl. It resulted in Richie striking Frazier and knocking him down. Frazier, it is alleged, then jerked out a knife and cut his assailant.

Dr. Hopkins was called to treat Richie's wounds. The injured man was later removed to his home near Pond Run.

Deputy Sheriff Rome Arthur received the call about midnight and went to the scene. He found Frazier at his grandfather's home down near Buena Vista and placed him under arrest.

POOLE RESTAURANT DAMAGED BY EARLY MORNING BLAZE

The Poole restaurant, 831 Gallia street, was seriously damaged by fire early Monday morning.

The fire broke out shortly after twelve o'clock in the kitchen. The origin is unknown. About 12:20 o'clock Gus Deis, a waiter at the Manhattan hotel, noticed the flare of the flames reflected in the windows and called the Seventh street fire company. A few minutes later George McMahon, of the Smoke House, turned in the alarm then broke down the front door and carried out the cash register.

Mr. McMahon then went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Poole, Eighth street, and aroused them.

The Seventh street and the East End companies responded to the alarm. A portion of the partition in the rear of the restaurant was opened and the place was flooded with water.

Most of the restaurant equipment was ruined. The whole interior was charred from the flames. Dishes were broken, everything was practically ruined with the exception of the coffee percolators in the front part of the room.

When seen Monday morning, Mr. Poole stated that he was unable to say what the cause of the fire was nor did he know the amount of insurance he carried on his equipment. The insurance he says was issued to the former owner by The Ohio Farmer Company.

"I intend to stay in Portsmouth," said Mr. Poole, "and I intend to open another restaurant just as soon as possible. It sure is discouraging to look at what I have this morning."

The Hazlebeck company will insure you. 819 Gallia. adv.

The Lucasville Fair will start Tuesday morning and will last four days, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

This is to apply to the territory of the Universal Motor company and its sub-agents. To the person driving the oldest Ford on the grounds on Friday will be presented a hand Klaxon horn.

ONLY 25 CENTS

Officials of the Lucasville Fair state that there appears to be a misunderstanding as to the price of admission to the fair grounds, it being rumored that the price has been advanced to fifty cents. This is not so, the admission being the same as in other years, 25 cents, although the attractions this year are much ahead of any previous fair held at Lucasville.

OBJECTS TO STREET FAIR

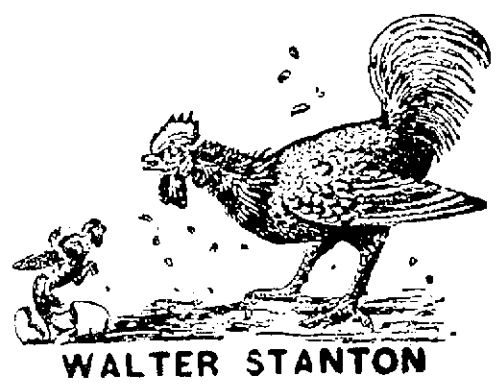

John Swearingen, a Second street grocer, says that he is breathing easier now that the street fair is over. "Why these street fairs are a regular nuisance," said Mr. Swearingin. "Some people carry all of their money to the fair and slight their grocery accounts. I'll venture that this fair this week cost me $75."

Lucy Herron Released

Lucy Herron was released from the county jail Monday upon instructions received from Mayor H. H. Kaps. She was sent to the county jail several days ago from the mayor's court. One night she carved a chunk out of her toe and almost bled to death. It was upon the recommendation of Dr. W. W. Smith that she was released from the jail. Dr. Smith found the woman suffering considerably from the wound on her toe.

Free Comedy Act At Fair

WALTER STANTON

Stanton's Giant Rooster free comedy act is to be one of the free attractions at the annual Scioto County Fair, which will start Tuesday morning. If you have never seen a wee Bantam whip a great towering Chanticleer, don't fail to visit the fair grounds.

This is one of the best acts ever brought to the fair by the management. The giant rooster is just a clever imitation of the real thing, but the Bantam is a genuine fighting feather fowl, whose actions during the "mortal" combat is brim-full of humor. It is a laugh from start to the finish and everyone will enjoy it. Two free exhibitions each day.

Family Of 5 Go Over Narrows On The Harrisonville Road

Providence must have smiled on W. J. Wiant and family of near Jackson, about 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening when their Ford touring car went over a fifty foot bank, for they escaped with a good shaking up and slight bruises. The machine left the old Harrisonville pike about 200 yards east of the western end of the Little Scioto river narrows, ploughed through the trees and landed a mass of wreckage, against a ten inch thorn tree about fifty feet from the road and only 20 feet from the Little Scioto river.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wiant and three children occupied the automobile and they were followed by a neighbor and his family of four, who were also in a Ford car. The party was making its first automobile trip to Portsmouth and chose the old Harrisonville pike so they could view the construction of the C. & O. Northern railroad which follows this pike most of the way from Sciotoville to Harrisonville.

The Wiant machine was in the lead and slowed down as it came onto the narrow road around Merwint hill, skirting the Little Scioto river bank. The road is just wide enough to allow two vehicles to pass. The rain early Sunday had made the road muddy and dangerous. Two hundred yards east of the cement bridge that crosses the Little Scioto river and leads to the Henry Ketter farm and C. & O. Northern camps Mr. Wiant lost control of the machine on the slippery pike and it dashed over the bank.

All five passengers were thrown out as the machine went over the edge of the bank. Mr. and Mrs. Wiant and children held to a small tree, vines and roots until members of the second car arrived and assisted them to the pike.

The bank at the place where the car went over is steep and it is hardly believable that all the party escaped without injury. Garage men at Sciotoville who were called to the scene say they do not understand how the car came to pass between the many trees that are on the bank. The car was badly wrecked. It stood balanced on its left wheels, the head end resting against the small tree. The right side of the car was several feet in the air. The left front wheel, left fenders, radiator and lamps were mashed, wind shield broken and front axle bent.

Stewart and Sparks of the Sciotoville garage went to the scene early Monday and with block and tackle and several teams pulled what was left of the machine to the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiant and family returned to Jackson Sunday evening in their neighbor's car, it carrying ten passengers.

More Room Is Needed

Owing to the recent frequency of juveniles the police officials are trying to devise some plan of providing more room at the city prison. They are thinking of converting the second floor of the patrol barn into a kitchen and storage room. This arrangement would permit the use of the present kitchen and storage room in the prison proper for incarcerating offenders.
